I. Welcome To The Journey

I believe the full development of the soul is accomplished over numerous lifetimes, which I call Life Journeys. Each journey takes an average of 72 plus years to complete and compares to attending the Universal School of Soul for one day. Some subjects are harder to learn than others and often need to be repeated. Some have Karma from previous lives alongside the current lesson and some do not. Others enhance skills began in previous lives. Some topics are at a kindergarten level because a new approach has been selected and foundations are now being laid. Each person designs their own journey. Not even those of twins are perfectly identical. Each life is lived as a unique individual and will never be repeated as the person you are now.

As an astrologer I consider myself to be your guide and it is my duty to be as objective as I possibly can. To help you further your soul's particular goals I want to shine a light on paths that lead to higher levels of meaning, purpose and awareness. My efforts are towards your greatest good so I have looked for the best way to point out any roadblocks along your life's highway this time around. Human we all be and there are none among us who have not slipped a little as they trod the path to higher consciousness. Life is never without its struggles, but these conditions strengthen us as we humbly reach for that within us which is divine.

A written report can only highlight the expression of planetary energies through general possibilities, so by no means is this report a complete astrological analysis. Without a doubt, you are far more complex than what these few pages can portray. Still, it is my hope that the descriptions of your inner character lead you to really discover; who you are, what you can become, what talents lie dormant, what your path is and what lessons you need to learn in this life. My goals are much the same as yours and it is my joy in life to have been given the skills to help a fellow soul treading along life's path and in knowing that the world is a little better off for the work I do.

Your Moment In Time

Your journey begins when Spirit endows Corporeal Matter with Life and Births itself into Physical Reality and The Life Journey Report is a first step in decoding the symbolic language of your birth chart. It explains the raw materials you've been given for building a life and indicates the strengths you have to meet its challenges. It outlines how the overall shape of your chart, reflects your personality and highlights what your greatest talents are likely to be. It indicates the main areas in which you are most apt to play out your life's drama.

Your birth moment can be likened to a seed that contains the potential for how you will unfold. The planetary positions will never be repeated exactly the same way and their array at your birth employs the language of symbols that reflect who you are. Your horoscope contains the raw materials you were given to fashion a life enabling you to see yourself from the outside looking in and extend your point of view. We are all given our special problems to solve and special strengths to do this with. There is no such thing as a norm for everyone; however there is a special pattern that is right for you and you alone. Enhanced knowledge highlights the energies you chose to work with and enable you to grow in the direction meant for the life path this time around.

Like the genes that determine your physical body, your birth chart contains the same basic components that other humans have, but like your fingerprints and DNA profile the placement of planets in your birth chart are unique to you. Each planet represents a many-sided energy that evinces through infinite patterns when combined with the energies of the house and sign they are located in. Most likely you are not aware of the many ways your persona expresses and because you are a highly complex person, text under various headings can contradict the one preceding it. However, as we all wear 'Persona Masks' to suit the purpose of the moment, both are valid.

The interpretations are based on the position of the Sun, Moon and Planets at the moment of your birth, as seen from the location of your birth. Your report has been formulated on the assumption that you submitted an accurate birth date, time and place of birth were. A difference of as little as 15 min. in birth time invalidates many of the interpretations given in this report. Most notably the accounts for 'House positions of Planets' and 'The Ascendant' will be inaccurate. Should this be the case then only accounts for aspects formed between the planets apply. If there is a large variance in time then accounts on aspects that form to the Moon are also inaccurate.

Huber Astrology

Developed by Swiss astrologers Bruno and Louisa Huber after many years of research and in-depth studies into Esoteric Principles, the Huber approach to astrology unfolded when they founded the first Huber Astrological Psychology Institute in Zurich in 1962. They had previously worked as assistants to Roberto Assagioli the founder of Psychosynthesis and were followers of Assagioli's friend and esoteric colleague, Alice Bailey. In Psychosynthesis the emphasis is on the progressive integration of one's personality around one's Essential Self through the use of Will.

The Principles Of Huber Astrology; -- All Astrological Symbols are Neutral. -- Astrological Psychology is not wedded to any philosophy or religion, because the only thing in the system that matters is increasing your self-awareness. -- Your birth chart is a blueprint for the happiest, most fulfilling and spiritually creative path of growth available to you. -- You alone are responsible for the way you embody your birth chart and we cannot determine your level of response to your birth chart from the chart alone. -- We recognize the irreducible mystery of life and your unique viewpoint on that mystery as an absolute.

To this end; Huber Astrological Psychology incorporates Dr. Assagioli's specifically designed psychological techniques and much of Alice Bailey's esoteric knowledge. Because the Huber method insights personal character and destiny with such accuracy, it's rapidly becoming the method of choice for many astrologers around the globe. I have used this approach with clients for the past 35 years to aid them on their journey's of self-discovery and am delighted to offer you a written report that harnesses the analytical power of Huber Astrological Psychology.

The Huber Chart

Level 1. The 'Center Circle' is the deepest level and represents your 'Core Essence'. This circle is 'impregnable' and no aspect lines are drawn through it. Through this portal your 'Ego-self meets your Higher-self'.

Level 2. Energy from your 'Core' moves outwards to express your unconscious motives through pulsating aspect energies.

Level 3. Planets represent your psychological drives and are energized by the aspects transmitted from deep within your core.

Level 4. 'The Zodiac' is a cosmic belt of creative energy is the magnetic mantle of our Earth. Twelve equal but uniquely different signs signify the twelve basic roles of humankind. Signs are the qualities and substances of this living 'entity' and humanities link between our earth and the cosmos. They contain the sum total of human knowledge and just as humanity they evolve and through us as co-creators of our Universe, our Earth grows in consciousness. They carry your DNA signature and represent your inherited genetic traits. Because they embody the four elements, through three different types of expression the inherent nature of a sign colors the way you experience life.

Level 5. 'The Houses'. These represent the environment where you live and express the potential contained within your 'Tool Kit'. Each house incorporates the energy of the sign that colors it and expresses in the mode appropriate to it. Each combines all descriptive values uniquely and these subtle differences affect the way a planet expresses its own particular energy. Along with their particular designations each House represents a Six year period of time on your journey. Depending on the size of the house you are passing through it may feel as if time is passing at a snail's pace or moving at the speed of light. Every house has an energy curve. Within it are the Balance Point and Invert Point (B.P). - I.P.).

The 'Age-Point (AP)' symbolizes you on the journey that begins at your Ascendant degree of birth. You move forward through each consecutive house, and re-cross the Ascendant degree on your 72nd birthday and continue onwards. As you revisit the houses of youth greater insight may be gained.

II. Planets - The Soul's Tool Kit

Planets symbolize the 'Core Energies' in your 'Soul's Tool Kit'. Solar, Lunar and Saturn energies are conscious. Venus, Mercury, Mars and Jupiter energies are sub-conscious. Uranus, Neptune and Pluto energies are super-conscious. The North Node symbolizes, present life directives. These vital energies function innate drives within you and convey at different levels of expression. Spirit uses matter to manifest into physical reality and your Body is the vehicle used to experience the journey. Your soul's underlying quest is to integrate all aspects of your personality into a consciously functioning instrument for spiritual development and it will use your body in whatever form it exists to achieve this end.

Aspects

Aspects are the angular relationships formed between the planets. These are dynamic, vital components linking planet energies in the solar system. In your horoscope aspects are areas of your psychic-self making contact and working with or against each other. Through consciously experiencing each energy you get to know yourself. There is no such thing as a 'purely good or bad' aspect. Some appearing to be 'easy' can also lack impetus, while those that initiate action create both stress and relief. In actuality you fluctuate between both a positive and negative expression of energies and as you progress through the three main phases of life you will modify the way you apply them.

Unaspected Planets: In essence the lack of aspects to an unaspected planet removes many restraints because it's not closely wired into the overall circuitry of your chart. It can make you may feel as if a piece of yourself is missing while deep down inside you know it's there. You don't get to understand and come to terms with its expression quickly and it can overstate itself in a bid for recognition. Although an unaspected planet's energy can be difficult to express or control if you don't consciously work to moderate its function it will be controlled and directed for you by both your environment and the people within it. Still, planets do progress and over your lifetime it will aspect other planets so you will have many opportunities to come to terms with its energy and understand yourself better.

Retrograde Planets: From a perspective on Earth, a planet can appear to be in reverse motion. However, planets can't go backwards, hence the term is apparent and an Rx is used to note it in a birth chart. When a planet is in apparent retrograde motion much of its energy is directed inwardly so you're more sensitive to it and can better understand its meaning. Although it may express itself more subtly, it can still express very powerfully. In terms of karma it may indicate that there is an unachieved goal you need to complete or a life lesson you have been working on and it is still ongoing.

Color Balance

Therapists researching the use of colour as a healing tool, suggest that certain shades of colour can produce a predictable reaction within your psyche. In Huber Astrology we see colour as signifying your unconscious impulses and when a colour is missing from a chart it indicates a disproportionate approach towards life.

The colour Red found in Square and Opposition aspects, represents extroverted energy that releases by inciting or challenging you to participate, perform and accomplish. However the release of energy in the Opposition tends to be more impulsive and over-active.

The colour Blue found in Sextile and Trine aspects, represents assimilating, energy at rest. This harmonizing energy urges you to maintain the status quo and heed your security needs. However Sextile energy has greater disdain for conflict and tends to release by making a greater effort to compromise.

The colour Green found in Semi-sextile and Quincunx aspects, represents thinking, energy that provokes you to search for meaning. Semi-sextile energy is content to assimilate and contemplate, whereas Quincunx energy actively searches for answers and needs a firm conclusion.

III. Energy Patterns - Sub-personalities

Sub-personalities existing deep within your psyche are represented in patterns of energy. These patterns are part of your personal evolution and at the core of each one lies a transpersonal quality that can transform it into a creative part of your personality. Still, transformation cannot occur without an understanding of the way in which the negative aspects of a sub-personality can undermine you. Therefore we give them credence by naming them and describing the way an energy pattern is likely to manifest. However, much depends on the planets involved in the patterns themselves.

Motivation

Square Aspect Structure

Your chart is made up of singular lines of energy that conjoin into four or more sided figures. This factor indicates an intense need to maximize efficiency and 'calculated shifts' in direction as you go forward in life. Much like the 'Tortoise who raced a Hare and won', you apply yourself to challenges through a controlled but steady expenditure of energy to gain ground and assure success. However if life tosses a monkey wrench into your well-organized plan and pressures you to fast track a goal, your coping skills may go out the door as you don't come to decisions quickly or easily adjust to new circumstances.

Honoring your need for stability means more than just states of constancy but the compulsion to resist change, pulsates deep within and urges you to uphold the 'status quo'. As such you must face and master another challenge by teaching yourself to move from a comfortable position when change is warranted rather than support outmoded purposes. Unlike a tortoise that retreats to the safety of its shell till danger passes, you have the capacity to utilize energy befitting a situation and create the security you need. Once equilibrium is gained, apply yourself to other conditions in need of symmetry and enjoy the rewards that generally accompany forward movement.

Achievement Square

A dynamic, determined, achievement oriented person you're motivated to guarantee your security. You measure your worth by the stamina and effort you're able to responsibly bring to bear on a task. In fact work itself may become your security blanket of choice and this is often more important to you than any goal involved in the process. No matter how menial the chore when you're not actively accomplishing something you can feel both insecure and guilty. Therefore you may also be driven to take on more than your fair share of any workload. Still it will be a rare occurrence that you do not complete any undertaking within a scheduled time. As such stress resulting from an overload of work is not likely to occur.

You take life very seriously and the values of others are often measured against your own. Although you frequently need to delegate tasks to those who work in a less directed and conscientious manner, problems arise when you put pressure on people who don't live up to your expectations. Should it happen that you don't achieve your aim the resulting disappointment can leave you angry and embittered towards those you perceive to be less dedicated to your cause. Therefore it can be disconcerting and even painful for you should you find that problematic attitudes must be altered in order to receive recognition for the effort you expend and maintain a stress free working environment.

As there is also a strong tendency towards workaholicism you need to be aware that being overly focused on work also has its cost. All work and no play doth Jack a dull boy make, is the way the old adage goes. Therefore it is important for you to schedule regular times of relaxation and to spend quality time with loved ones. Otherwise what is the point of amassing wealth you never make the time to enjoy? Remember no matter how much you accumulate in life, the bottom line is ..no one lives forever..and you can't take it with you when you die.

Ambivalence Rectangle

The yardsticks you use to measure success are work, performance and efficiency. You set a high value on all three. As such you can even take these ideals to the extreme and develop a philosophy where the only thing important in your life is work. You may even feel that no dollar will ever be earned by sitting on your laurel and the retirement years of your life will be the time for that. However with this belief any time you try to relax and enjoy life's pleasures, your serenity will be riddled with guilty feelings and a restless need to return work.

Although you strive for harmony within your environment you can also take a tough, calloused approach to the world around you. You admire others whom you perceive to be hard working individuals much as yourself. You want to emulate them and if it will further your cause will not hesitate to pressure others to comply with your exacting standards. Nevertheless your deeply introspective persona also has a harmonizing effect on the people around you, who most frequently are willing to oblige your requests. If opportunity allows it you also prefer to hob-nob with people of influence, especially those able to advance you on your path.

Once thing certain is that no matter the path you choose, it is most likely that your words will never be ignored nor will you be overlooked. You know how to set your sites on a goal, reason the ways and means to achieve it and diligently work to attain it. As such over time you may well become one of those influential people others chose to emulate.

Kite

This energy circuit signifies that in lives now past that one specific talent has been developed and you're working towards completing a second one. The tail of this kite is the point of expression for the completed talent and your grounding factor. The house this planet resides in indicates the area in which this it can best be expressed. The apex point of the kite opposes the tail and the same rules apply to the talent being developed. However as these talents differ your energy is likely to be stressed, because as you concentrate on using the developed talent the other is demanding your attention. You firmly believe that every question can be answered and to every problem there is a solution.

You want to know and understand the meaning of everything, but you only accept knowledge that has been gained by your personal experiences or that which has been proven to stand the test of time. You can swing between a best and worst state as you test which is the most effective alternative in any situation. In this sense you're completely preoccupied with something or in total avoidance of it. You appreciate the beauty of the world you live in, but gain your greatest satisfaction though understanding the way things work. You prefer to live in harmony with life and take pleasure in bettering the lives of others.

Stage

Although you're a warm-hearted 'hail fellow - well met' person, you're in some ways aloof and perhaps even a bit remote. Nevertheless on first meet it can be easily noted that you strive for harmony. You seek to understand a person's innermost being and identify their place and role in society. In your inquisitive search for as yet undiscovered qualities about human destiny and emotion you get to know many roles and bit parts. Therefore in your compendium of understood human personas, no detail about them is too small to codify and store for future reference.

For every question you ask yourself, such as ' why do I need to love' there are always two conflicting answers. Approached from both the positive significance for and negative consequences of, you focus on bridging the gap between very strongly opposing viewpoints and clearly separate outcomes in an attempt to create a unified meaning. This is a constant search as pretty much any question will stimulate that movement; however the more developed your power of perception the more resolution is found. To achieve this end you have learned to be or are in the process of becoming; very honest with yourself and impartial towards anyone or anything.

Animated Figure

Motivated to achieve success and action oriented, you may believe there is no such thing as material gain without some accompanying pain. A very perceptive person as well you're acutely aware of the attitudes, feeling sand circumstances of others and sensitive to environments where there is conflict or tension. Although you would prefer if need be to modify any situation, if necessary you're also fully capable of adapting to it. Your counterpoised attentiveness is accompanied by a highly developed ability to discriminate between fact and fiction. Your disposition is such that when you take a stance for a particular point of view you can quickly switch to disapproval and back to approval again without so much as the blink of an eye. You have a great need to know exactly what is expected of you in life and where you fit into the grand scheme of things. However you may be more attached to loosely formed personal concepts than you're in discovering the answers to your question. You learn through the give and take of energy invested in both work and pleasure and are ever at the ready to incorporate into both areas of your life any skill or knowledge worth implementing.

Arena

You have the ability to speculate on two different and diametrically opposing viewpoints while keeping them separate to prevent any distortions or overlapping coloration. However you want to find a resolution to the situation in a win/win way rather than having to opt for a singular viewpoint and eliminating the other. As such is not uncommon for you to find yourself 'pig in the middle' of two conflicting parties that reflect those selfsame points of view. Needing resolution to the conflict you create suitable affiliations for both and help them to get over it. This talent makes you a natural mediator to any dispute. However more than being just a useful counseling or business tool, it also enhances your ability to overcome personal contradictions whereby you're able to gain greater control over your destiny. Therefore you may also be a person know for the usage of the phrase 'practice makes perfect', which of course is true for you.

Provocative Figure

It is most likely that others see you as a self-assured, successful person, meriting their respect. Nevertheless your personal quest is to self-validate their evaluation. Perhaps you don't quite fit the description of a true perfectionist, however you do focus overmuch on what you feel are your short-comings. Therefore; while it won't be Mt. Everest you decide to climb, you do purposely erect obstacles on your path and will yourself to courageously overcome them. To avoid being asked for explanations as to the why of what you do, you initiate an aggressive movement rather than take a defensive stance. Also a bit insecure about your methods, in reality this aggressive indicant is your way of kicking yourself into gear.

You also have a restless inner need to find the answers to hypotheses provoked by your ever questioning mind and yet on the whole the knowledge you gather is meant to serve practical purposes only. Achievement oriented you want to accomplish every goal you set your sights on. You like to be considered to be an indispensable factor in the lives of those you touch and take responsibility for your actions, therefore should you inadvertently give offense, or do people wrong, no stone will be left unturned until it has been righted.

Representative

You're very much a 'what you see is what you get person'. The persona you present to others is completely open and your life history is a story you willing share with anyone interested in hearing it. This is a rare gift and it is most likely that very few people will believe you can be brutally honest about yourself and fully accept what you say as truth. You only fight in your own defense and that is only if you feel your integrity has been called into question.

You feel an obligation to improve both yourself and your community in ways that will make holistic improvements even if you must use purgative methods to guarantee the outcome. Your power to persuade others to support your humanistic philosophy and follow your lead is phenomenal and it is most likely that anything you set your mind on and turn your hand to will be implemented. Beyond the concern you have for others, you're interested in attaining greater self-awareness. Once your plans are implemented and running smoothly, you're more than content to leave the functioning of it in the capable hands of a compatriot and take another direction as you continue your journey of self-discovery.

Recorder

You prefer the ebb and flow of your daily life in definable routine, as long as it allows you to adapt to changing and unforeseen circumstance. You have an innate knack for knowing where to look for insightful information and how to ask exactly the right question when you need an answer. Sensitive and highly perceptive you analytically evaluate all incoming data filling in any gaps in its coherency as you do. The ability to concentrate is a given because when you really want to understand a topic you're wont to reflect upon it for extended periods of time. Patient as well you know how to wait for your heart's desire to be fulfilled and when opportunity knocks on the door you never keep it waiting.

You have a library of memories recorded with video like clarity stored within your mind. Always willing to enthrall an audience you captivate them with spellbinding stories, albeit you may embellish the details for added effect. Because you have such a gift for recalling not only the events themselves, but the emotional climate as well, you impart your experiences as if they were happening in the here and now. Attendees come away feeling as if they have also lived it and it is most likely you will never be lacking a willing listener.

Buffer

This is a defensive, protective, regulative mechanism and works much like a suit of armor, worn to protect you from all things that threaten your equilibrium or perceived to be hostile. Its purpose is dual edged in that it shields you from being hurt and from hurting someone else and works much like the buffer under-run function in cd burning software. It moderates two equal but opposite states of being, by applying the same amount of energy to a need for harmonious, concordance and a defensive, desire for an aggressive donnybrook. The end result is that few if any of your experiences are ever likely to be taken to an extreme. The transitional affects occur with lightening speed and are not felt externally. Because this all happens on a subliminal level, these reactions may be difficult for you to assimilate or even remember. Therefore any memories that do linger may be experienced as a sense of being disconnected from the event and are easily negated. What you do retain may be a fear of criticism and a sense of vulnerability, without an understanding of the reasons why. However not wanting to appear paranoid or delusional it is most likely that you will never acknowledge or divulge this fact.

Decorative Figure

You have a way of translating the coded messages in body language and you may even fathom the why and how of the particular mood you find a person in. Although this talent is a useful tool for you, others may find it both uncanny and more than a little unnerving that you know their state of mind without a single word of conversation passed between you. What they may not know, is that you're very well informed on a great many subjects of no concern to them. You gather knowledge that is of interest or use to you and classify into a personal system that works for you alone. Therefore if asked by others to explain your method is most unlikely that you will in any way obliged to enlighten them.

A diplomat at heart you can easily introduce harmony into any tense environment. Gentle your persona may be but it has at its center a very tough core that when necessary projects intensely. If the need arises you do not hesitate to impart hard cold facts to those who need to hear them. However you do this in such a fashion that the recipient is generally willing to listen and accept the facts without feeling the need for angry rebuttal.

Although it may take you time to process the data you accumulate you develop intellectual strength as you do. The commitments you make you follow through on with single minded, obstinate, determination. In fact it may be easier to explain this by likening you to a bulldozer clearing intellectual obstacles on its path. You find your place in the world by embracing it. As you move on to greener pastures you leave behind you the knowledge you have acquired to that point so others treading their way along the path may also use it.

Trapeze

A fast learner you adapt with ease to changing circumstances and prefer to go with the flow of life rather than push against it. you're fully committed to following your own path in life and being true to yourself. You need the kind of inner security, remaining centered within yourself provisions and work to maintain a calm, composed persona.

Although you're not always in tune with the 'status quo' or its precepts, you're assured in your convictions. Should these be called to question, you will not go against them and will if necessary defend them even if it does mean 'losing your cool' to do so. You feel that a logical solution to any problem can be found if only you think about it long enough and you're interested in the evolution of both yourself and society at large. It is likely a given then, that you will work diligently and tenaciously towards achieving these goals.

Tele-Mircoscope

A curious person you're interested in gathering knowledge on all and sundry subjects. Then you analyze it, hypothesize its usage and test it out for functionality. However you can also become so obsessed with learning, that you become a perpetual student, who knows a lot and does nothing with it. You have the uncanny ability to focus on the bigger picture, complete with minor details and still see the interconnectedness of everything and commit it to memory. The only draw back is your tendency towards ambivalent thought patterns the possibility you will wind up with no firm point of view.

IV. The Personal Self

SUN - Determining

The Sun is the center of our universe, and the source from which all life on earth derives its sustenance. All the planets in our Solar system orbit Sol, our Sun, and Solar energy applies itself to and influences all planetary forces. The Sun symbolizes the 'Mental Ego' function within your psyche that urges you to express yourself to better advantage and the 'Universal Masculine Principle'. It motivates you to achieve self awareness, elicit applause for achievements, acquire supported nurturing love, and express your unique individuality.

Solar energy has the potential to be and power to do. Its position in your chart highlights your main area of focus and informs you of methods that increase your chance to achieve goals. It incites you to express yourself to better advantage and it does not readily accept being delegated to a role of mediocrity. It stands for the person you perceived to; be goal orientated, give you the experience of an I-awareness, mirror worldly success and encourage you to expand your individuality. Generally this Guardian is 'masculine'.

Harmony or disharmony between yourself and a masculine guardian in childhood is an important factor in determining your level of self-confidence as an adult. If there was a high degree of friction with this guardian, you may go through life thinking you must always struggle to get your needs met or achieve life goals. There is also the added possibility you could be attracted to a partner psychologically similar to this guardian and enter into a co-dependant relationship, where you give up personal control. If so this pattern can pass to the next generation.

Sun Trine Moon

Self-confident and optimistic it's easy for you to share your feelings. You reach out to others in a good-hearted, friendly way and when you need too, you can charm even the most obstinate person into going along with your plans. You understand how people may react to your viewpoints and are receptive to the opinions of others. Although, you have the stamina and drive to be capable of achieving your goals, you may not use your abilities to their fullest potential. You're fair minded and non-judgmental when looking into a problematic situation, but you may be blind to the real extent of problems in your personal life or letting them slide until they reach critical phase.

Sun Semi-Sextile Venus

Charming and sociable, you want to be seen as having something of value to offer. Your charisma not only guarantees this, it attracts people to you and endears you to them. You're an avid conversationalist and an attentive listener and this factor alone makes an impression people don't easily forget. You're sensitive to and considerate of people's feelings and you welcome intimacy, however, letting your guard down to show tender affection does not come easy. Be aware that you tend to compromise your own needs and learn to confidently present your opinions instead of ceding to those of others.

Sun Trine Jupiter

Optimistic, altruistic and self-confident, your positive attitude generally supports your goal to prosper and evolve at a steady pace. You're inclined towards liberal thinking, are inordinately optimistic and easy company. In general your attitude is relaxed and easy-going and conforming to others' expectations is something you can't be pushed into. Therefore if a choice can be taken, you prefer to live without participating in the proverbial 'rat race'. As such alternative ways to use innate talents is crucial if a unique life path is to be followed. However the ability to objectively self-evaluate may be lacking and you may need to seek the advice of a career counselor.

Sun Quincunx Uranus

Renewal and change are your constant companions along this path. You thrive on new adventure and challenges that show up out of the blue. These promote the growth of your soul. A restless need to be doing something makes you receptive to inner thoughts that incite you to abrupt choices and spur of the moment actions. This may be an indication that over past lives, your intellectual evolution has far outstripped your emotional development. These factors and your intense dislike for restraint and fear of stagnating can make it hard for you to maintain both a calm persona and a relaxed personal environment.

Sun Sextile Neptune

Impressionable, sensitive and compassionate you sense feelings and grasp concepts that more literal-minded people cannot understand. It's very possible that you're fascinated by metaphysical, esoteric, spiritual subjects and familiar with mystical or psychic experiences. You may unknowingly absorb negative vibes in the environment, so it's important that keep a positive energy field around you. You have great empathy and an ability to feel and understand the needs of others, however if you're stressed you can also be evasive and mistrustful.

Sun Trine Pluto

Magnetic, charismatic and born to lead, people either like or dislike you. It does appear however that this bothers you not you one iota, as long as they treat you with respect. One thing certain either way you mesmerize them. You're focused on solving more challenging problems than being popular. Not one to easily admit defeat, if a challenge pits you against great odds for winning, you dig in your heels for purchase and set your mind to the task. The odds of winning are so much in your favor that someone betting on you failing would lose a lot more than their shirt. However you're won't develop your full potential for leadership until you have experienced some 'angst' and gained a mature outlook. Quite possibly that will be sometime in your middle years.

MOON - Emoting

The Moon; a subconscious, reflexive energy represents the Ego function within your psyche that motivates you to develop subjective, impressionable, sensitive, feelings. It symbolizes spontaneous reactions and habits, as well as the child that dwells within you. It is your vigilant radar tuning into environmental stimuli instinctively relaying messages from your inner parent as you adapt to changing vibrations. Through lunar energy you develop sympathy/antipathies, likes and dislikes, wishes and desires that lead to action. Without desire, thought as powerful as it is cannot manifest into tangible form and the fundamental purpose of lunar energy is to use your emotive faculties, to nurture and be nurtured. A healthy lunar function generates self-love and unconditional acceptance of others and because it needs to receive in kind to feel secure, it does not settle for less.

Moon Trine Sun

You're self-reliant and able to satisfy both your need to be an individual and your need to interact with others. In previous lifetimes you used your willpower to harmonize emotions and find contentment within yourself. This, factor should attract to you general success in life, faithful friends, esteem in the community, fair financial conditions and generally good health. In essence you can create your niche life through the support you gain from people in a position to help you, or make it happen for yourself. Still, you must maintain your uniqueness while allowing yourself to nurture and be nurtured.

Moon Square Venus

Inclined to please others first you don't think twice about putting your own needs on an 'I'll get to them later shelf'. You need to see love for you reflected people's eyes. This need for reassurance is what makes it easy for you to tell others exactly what they want to hear, regardless of whether it's really true or not. You're trying to please people far too much and becoming very unhappy in the process. A lack of self-worth will magnify these insecurity issues and make it even more difficult to get your own needs met. Learn to love yourself and be clear about what it is you want. Only when you feel worthy of being loved can you truly accept it and return that love in kind.

Moon Trine Jupiter

A tolerant, honest person, you have a well defined sense of ethics and a belief system that supports your optimistic outlook. You can see the irony in even the worst of situations and find a way to laugh at your predicament. You genuinely care about people and not just those close to you emotionally and you give whatever aid you can to anyone in need of help. You're very self-reliant, have great inner strength and you enjoy making people happy. Although you may think you're fated to receive 'lady luck' favors, in reality it's your non-judgmental attitude and kind-heartedness towards your fellowman that attracts fortunes favors to you.

Moon Quincunx Saturn

Getting close to you is not an easy thing for others to do. You're very self-contained, even when you involve yourself in a relationship, a part of you has an eye on the exit door. You don't believe you're likeable and expect people to reject you, so if they don't you wonder why or think they must want something from you. You control your responses to ensure stability so even those you call friend, know you will retreat if they try to get too close. These behaviors are related to an unfulfilling emotional relationship with a care giver and your present need for inner security. You must learn to love both yourself and others unconditionally, so seek the aid of a qualified counselor if you can't master this yourself.

Moon Square Uranus

Restless and fiercely independent you can't tolerate restrictions on your freedom and railing against accepted norms drives your journey of discovery. Your erratic moods can change from cordial friendliness to open hostility at the drop of a hat and often you respond sharply and sarcastically just for affect. It's hard for you to live within assigned parameters and perhaps that's why you're hesitant to commit to anything and back away from intimate relationships. You need to learn how to control your sudden, unpredictable emotional storms and postpone gratifying your sudden need to do, be, or know something. This will help things in your life to settle down and run smoothly instead of continually careening off wildly in a new direction.

Moon Opposite Neptune

Compassionate and empathic you're not one to stand in judgment over others and always there to lend an ear to their tales of woe. However emotion governs most of your actions. On the one hand you willingly sacrifice your needs for others, but on the other you want to be taken of. This on-going stress can leave you wondering if being cared for or providing all the care. As such someone can easily feign undying fealty, pull the wool over your eyes and take advantage of you. When life's pressures get beyond your coping point, retreating into the world of imagination and focusing on creative pastimes is the way you find relief. But tuning out your problems will not remove them so level out the emotional swing between those highs and lows.

Moon Trine Pluto

You experience profoundly intense emotional reactions to any stimuli and attempt to keep those responses under private self-imposed control. Mayhap the reason you're reluctant to allow them complete expression now, arises from previous experiences where you wound up feeling very vulnerable when control went out the door. Although you're a friendly, person you have high expectations of others and generally avoid emotional involvement with casual acquaintances. Your affection is not a gift to taken lightly or given without thought. As such the people you hold dear know beyond a shadow of a doubt you're there for them when they need you. You see people for who they are, not what they outwardly represent and are inclined to give them the benefit of the doubt when necessary.

SATURN - Empowering

Saturn; a conscientious, structured dignified energy represents the Ego function within your psyche that motivates you to become self-disciplined and establish routines. It symbolizes your physical body and the 'Feminine Function of Corporeal - Orientation'. It empowers you to achieve maturity and trains you through practical, defensive tutoring. Saturn energy preserves your security through clear guidelines and limits, by prompting caution and self-control. It is endowed with a natural ambition for security, practicality, organization and rules. In your chart it stands for the guardian who mirrored authority and gave you the experience of a nurturing, physical safety-net. Generally this Guardian is 'female'.

Saturn Quincunx Moon

Although you may fall apart later you seldom panic in extreme situations. When others around you lose their bearings you maintain self-control to insure you can if need be make a level-headed decision. The downside of this cool objectivity is that you're even detached at times when warmth and spontaneity are needed. In the proper circumstances, this is undeniably a great gift that others who know you trust in. Still, it isn't easy for you to express what you're feeling at the best of times and there is always an air of shy reserve even when you appear to be fully relaxed. Quite possibly a parent was emotionally distant and now you fear that any overture of love and affection to others will also be rejected. However, to avoid a life of loneliness and possible depression you need to take that risk and work at developing genuine emotional attachments.

Saturn Sextile Venus

You have a deep need to be one part of a loving couple, but establishing intimacy does not come easy to you. Quite possibly you have been hurt in either a past life or this one and there is a fear of being hurt again. Perhaps you cared deeply for someone and in spite of all you did to win them over, their affection was never returned because that is not the way love works. It can't be used as barter or given with the expectation that you will receive it back. Love must be unconditional and freely given with no strings attached. There is no doubt that You're worthy of love and there are people who do care about you, but they won't beat their heads against a defensive wall indefinitely to prove it if you shut them out. Remember in order to receive love from others you must first be willing to love yourself.

Saturn Square Jupiter

While it may be true that there is no easy road to victory for you there are steps that if taken can make your path a little easier to travel. Don't make commitments based on the assumption you can fulfill them and don't take on projects that go beyond the limit of your current abilities. Give yourself both the time opportunity to reach your goals. Set your sights on achieving what You're fully capable of in the here and now. Practice makes perfect over time and when the time is right, then and only then set your sights a little higher. Perhaps you will also have to wait on the ' Will of the Universe', however ' The Universe' can and does provide to those who believe it will.

Saturn Trine Uranus

A self-disciplined, practical, person you can with relative ease materialize your inspired ideas. Although you're interested in the financial gain this brings you, a part of you just wants to see if you can and the satisfaction of success is often the only joy you need. A quick study as well, you tend to learn from your mistakes the first go round. You love to live in interesting times and are excited by the prospects of all the tomorrows you have yet to live. You need space to be yourself and willingly respect this need in others. As such your ethical, democratic approach to life lets you function in the collective in a very personal way without creating tensions in yourself or it.

Saturn Square Pluto

Just when you think that you have control of your life and things are moving in the direction you want, forces out of your control assert themselves and make dramatic alterations in your life direction. Still, you can transcend difficult environmental barriers through assertiveness and will, to create a life that satisfies you, but the solution lies within your psyche. Choose to change, by observing your repetitive patterns or lack of commitment to succeed, then override them through discipline and concentrated effort. Because you see change as a threat you resist it, but it will ultimately prove beneficial, even though you find it painful and inconvenient.

V. The Interpersonal Self

MERCURY - Communicating

Mercury represents Intellectual Perception. It is energy that is used to learn, think and communicate. It motivates you to rationalize, imagine, efficiently process data from the environment, understand abstract thought and to express yourself logically. Mercury records all information and experiences, both relevant and irrelevant in a constant flow of impressions and facts. Dexterity and physical-mental wellness are also depicted by this planet, correlating the overall health of the body with the mental thought processes of the mind. In essence the fundamental purpose of Mercury energy is; to learn what other people already know.

Mercury Sextile Mars

Given to expressing yourself with a bit of a dramatic flair, you're a sharp tack and a fluent communicator. You always come well informed to any gathering and prepared to backup your opinions. You know how to quickly state a point of view before your audience's attention starts to drift and easily win them over. You love a good discussion and when you're enthused about a subject you get so excited, it's impossible for others to get a word in edgewise. Perhaps this is because your powers of concentration far exceed the norm and give you an edge over nearly anyone who would challenge to debate your views, making you a surefire winner.

VENUS - Interacting

Venus represents the Equivalent Feminine energy in both men and women. This is energy used for pleasure, loving, caring and enjoying relationships. It motivates you to discern what is applicable to your well being and happiness. Venus symbolizes your ability to love yourself, open your heart and allow love in and emotional expression out. It depicts the beauty you see in life, such as art and things that bring you pleasure. It is your subconscious desire to be co-operative in ways that enable you to form lasting friendships and partnerships. The purpose of Venus energy is to develop self-esteem and feel good about yourself.

Venus Semi-Sextile Sun

Your warmth and affection are contagious and you're natural sultry charm easily attracts people to you. Innate creativity and aesthetic sensitivity beget an artistic flair as well as an appreciation of beauty in all its forms. You take pleasure from all the good things life has to offer and enjoy the intimacy of one to one relationships but your judgment in love could use some shoring up. No matter where you live it's likely that pictures will grace your walls and cozy throws adorn furniture built for comfort. You're amused by life's idiosyncrasies, love a real good laugh, find joy in the simple things of life and are easily moved by the beauty of a setting sun.

Venus Square Moon

You need the companionship of people who don't expect anything from you except friendship, but are defensive in admitting your feelings for them. Perhaps you fear that they will make demands on you if you do. These patterns are probably derived from childhood experiences and conditioning. The emotional relationship with your care-provider may have been less than satisfactory, which is why you have ambivalent and contradictory feelings of need and denial where commitment is expected. These unconscious, insecurities if not addressed may spill over into your adult relationships, especially the need for constant approval.

Venus Quincunx Jupiter

Optimistic and generous you can be counted on to come to the aid of others in times of need. You exude affection, value friendship and are tolerant of people's shortcomings. You appreciate beauty in all its myriad forms and take pleasure in the finer things life offers, but if you overindulge in rich food excess weight can also be an issue. You're highly creative but if life's advantages have come too easily, you may take things for granted and have trouble getting down to it. People are instantly attracted to your easygoing nature and you gain support to further your goals with relative ease. Still, you should more self-assertive and quit avoiding difficult issues.

Venus Sextile Saturn

Reserved, cautious and shy you lack the necessary self-assurance to making an overture of friendship and need to know it will be welcomed when you do. Fully ware of the duties that go hand in hand with commitment, there are also times when you can be quite stand-offish and not interact at all. Through all outward appearances you convey the impression of being a decisive, diligent person not easily swayed by emotion and always in control. This facade of summate self-determination masks the warmth within and feigns a cold aloofness that in reality does not exist. Loyal and true to others, friendships formed, generally stand the test of time.

Venus Opposite Uranus

Perhaps a bit eccentric and certainly nonconforming, your emotional responses to the same situation are about as reliable as the weather. In fact wind is more predictable than you. You run the gauntlet of emotional highs and lows with little understanding of the whys and tend to blame the person in closest proximity for it. Perhaps it is because your creativity cannot find a way to express. A continuing problem is your deep-seated need to reconcile the desire to commit with an equally pressing need for unconfined freedom. Nonetheless your unconventional style and affable nature attracts many who would be your friend.

Venus Square Neptune

An idealistic hopeless romantic you're in a sense 'in love with being in love'. You see love, through a rosy filter that helps you avoid the harsh realities of life. This would be an enraptured state of bliss if only you could stay in it, but alas you're worshiped, beloved has clay feet, 'falls from grace', the fog lifts and disillusioned you crash. Quite possibly in fantasies you have envisioned such a perfect mate that no real person will ever come close to actualizing this perception. You may become very disenchanting when you discover that no, flesh-and-blood person can ever live up to your imagined Ms. or Mr. Right.

Venus Quincunx Pluto

A magnetic, extremely passionate person, you crave intensity and are drawn to sensual states that may not be healthy for you. No matter how satisfying your most recent adventure was, you hunger for one more stimulating and are seldom content with your last. Your love life is volatile but you don't seem to mind because high voltage energy lets you feel alive. You may even marry someone you don't love or use sex to gain financial security. You don't want people to question or control you in any way so power-struggles may pervade many if not all your relationships. On the plus side, you do have the power to use your innate creativity in unusual and beneficial ways to educe change in the lives of others when you focus on their needs..

MARS - Asserting

Mars represents the Equivalent Masculine energy in both men and women. This is energy used to make decisions, initiate action and be assertive. It motivates you to stand up for your beliefs and principles and when necessary, apply your energy to aggressively defend them. It represents self-will and the spirited expression of your ego. Mars energy is essentially an instinctive, sexual, sensuousness, even somewhat primitive energy, therefore it can also be expressed as anger, frustration and rage. It urges you to become competitive and empowers you to boldly pursue any goal you seek to achieve. In essence the fundamental purpose of Mars energy is to develop courage, willpower and leadership, yet exercise self-control. This in turn allows you to assess any given situation with logic and foresight before responding to your fight or flight reflex.

Mars Sextile Mercury

Self-assured and decisive, the gift of repartee accompanies your agile mind and ready wit. Direct in your approach to others, you thrive on mental challenges and know how to make a point. You brook no opposition to your plans and confidently defend your options. You like to be the person in charge of a situation and with steadfast determination you set your own ideas into motion. But you can speak so fast there are times when people can't understand a word your saying or get a word in edgewise. Although your thrusters are set to fire, slow down a bit and give others a chance to catch up with you and get the gist of what you're saying.

JUPITER - Enlightening

Jupiter represents Wisdom and Optimism. It is energy that is used to expand your knowledge, and explore a wider scope in life beyond existing norms within your social structure. It motivates you to develop your own ethics and morals and to grow beyond boundaries. It represents your need to question and achieve a higher level of awareness, education, power and experience. Jupiter also depicts generosity of spirit, joy, travel, philosophy and a desire to venture into the unknown. In essence the fundamental purpose of Jupiter energy is, to develop rationality, discernment and an ability to think outside the box. This in turn allows you to exercise good judgment, lift your spirits and become more aware of opportunities that will enrich your life.

Jupiter is Retrograde

A Retrograde Jupiter may indicate that in past lives moral issues obstructed spiritual growth or you dared to be different and suffered more rejection than you were capable of handling. Now you may; staunchly support societal standards, pass by opportunity to advance and find gaining higher knowledge must be delayed. To overcome any fear of failure begin by taking calculated risks and let your inner voice guide you through trial and error learning experiences. Develop a broad understanding of spiritual ideals and look inward as you search for wisdom. Be honest with others and seek abundance in progressive ventures by employing innovative methods to achieve success.

Jupiter Trine Sun

There is a yearning deep within to know your true inner self and discover what plan the universe designed for your life. You may also feel as if you're being watched over by a benevolent guardian angel. No matter how close the calls to peril, you're somehow salvaged and once more placed upon the path. Unseen forces or if you like sprits watch over you and protect you from harm. Traits of kindness and generosity towards others in lives long past bring karmic rewards. Brought forward with you now are all the attendant favors. Use them wisely.

Jupiter Trine Moon

The lighthearted, cheerful way in which you approach life makes you a pleasure to be around. Unfortunately you tend to promise to deliver more than you can reasonably expect to accomplish and under that fun-loving facade there well may be an irrational fear that others will clue into your negative personality traits. You're fairly certain that no one will notice these perceived flaws if you can just keep them amused and having a good time. What you need to recognize is that none among you're less or more perfect than you're. If everyone was perfect, just imagine how boring life would be.

Jupiter Quincunx Venus

Warm-hearted and always at the ready to unreservedly give of yourself to others, your confident, expectant approach to life instantly attracts people to you. Unfortunately this trait can get out of hand when you over-indulge those who are merely there to take advantage of your money or time. However if their motives are exposed they can expect a very negative response from you. Fortunately, you seldom allow these experiences to embitter your overall attitude towards charity. Personal honesty and integrity are characteristics you take pride in therefore, you're disinclined to associate with anyone you deem lacking in them and you don't invest time on people who spend their time wasting time.

Jupiter Square Saturn

There are times when you feel 'the more ahead you try to go the more behind you get'. Perhaps these conditions are related to shifts in moods that range from gut-wrenching fear of failure to a devil-take-the-hindmost go for it anyway attitude. Perhaps these phases are also born of a need to measure your worth against the capabilities of others and judging yourself to be falling short of the status quo. As such you become despondent and discontented with the life fate has dealt you. To add insult to injury there is even a chance you will adopt some half-baked measure to fix the matter and wind up making the matter worse.

Jupiter Semi-Sextile Uranus

Highly independent you dislike any form of restriction. You fully understand and respect other people's rights to self-express and are tolerant of their viewpoints. You have an insatiable need to acquire knowledge and you're interested in unconventional ideas. You delve with enthusiastic, pleasure into explorations of new technology, or breakthroughs in accepted conventions. You may express your desire to be seen as different from the norm in many ways, such as living a bohemian life-style, wearing unusual apparel or through eccentric behaviors.

Jupiter Conjunct Pluto

Motivated to achieve personal growth and driven by an unquenchable desire to be all you can be, you want to achieve something lasting and worthwhile. You're aware of being a part of the greater collective of man and quite possibly you want your efforts to make a difference in the world. As such you must find a niche in life that offers you the opportunity to make the most of your potential. However the danger in your far reaching dreams is a tendency to bite off far more than you can chew. You can paddle your canoe through turbulent waters with relative ease, but should it for any reason tip you may suddenly recall you forgot to learn how to swim.

VI. The Transpersonal Self

URANUS - Individualizing

Uranus represents, radical change, individuality and higher perception. This is energy that brings about change, often in a disruptive manner by shattering the structural norms of society. It motivates you to distinguish, your true individuality apart from the opinions and attitudes held by your family, friends and associates. Uranus represents the model by which you seek perfection, challenge the status quo and improve on the present. Uranus energy broadens your outlook, expresses self-will, and sometimes creates a desire for the bizarre side of life. It also depicts futuristic ideas, inspirational thought and the part of your psyche that can be insubordinate.

Uranus Retrograde

A Retrograde Uranus may indicate that in past lives you sought greater freedom to self-express but lacked direction and in so doing you limited the freedom others. This time round you're meant to carry both yourself and others forward by promoting your progressive ideas in ways that people are willing to embrace. As such the direction you take to achieve your goals and the friends and associations you make, may also have their roots in lives now past. You have a deep need to improve the social structure, but others may find your futuristic ideas hard to grasp so quite possibly it will be later in life before your genius is fully appreciated.

Uranus Quincunx Sun

You're not easy to pin down and you make it clear you're not someone people should trifle with. As such you're most at ease in situations that leave all possibilities open. It's not that you don't wish to share, it's simply that you want the option of living an independent, liberal lifestyle that allows you to do what you want, when you want to. If you know you can't change your mind or leave whenever you want, you don't commit to something. These eccentric behaviors, a little to the left of norm may also have people teasing you about being from some other planet. This bothers you not at all. In fact because being seen as different is your bag and you may even get a kick out of it.

Uranus Square Moon

You're highly independent and may fear intense emotional involvement. Settling into to any sort of rigid routine that cramps your lifestyle is definitely not your bag. You have a vivid imagination, crave emotional stimulation and love surprises. Although you're easily excitable, you do recognize the necessity of controlling your emotional outbursts. Even though you demand the right to live your life whatever you want too, you do relate well to people because you respect and validate their opinions. You have an inquiring mind, are a fast learner and because you're also very perceptive you may be interested in metaphysical subjects. You can hold your own in any argument, and though you're not inclined to rebel against authority, you never walk away from a challenge or hesitate to defend your rights.

Uranus Opposite Venus

Something in your upbringing evoked in you a somewhat detached yet affectionate affinity for humanity in general. No great fanfare accompanies your expression of universal love, nor can it be abused as you're quick to detect insincerity. People feel safe with you, because you welcome them with warmth and project a feeling of comfort. Rarely, if at all are you negative in a social context and you can work effectively in any occupation involved with the public. Although you form many friendships, only a few will stand the test of time, because when they no longer fulfill a need in your life, you move on. It is likely a given that some form of artistic talent is present, but if not then at the very least you have a deep appreciation for beauty in all its many forms.

Uranus Semi-Sextile Jupiter

You have an unwavering faith in your own capabilities and even unpredictable events that change your life or circumstances overnight don't have the power to knock you off your firm foundation or dispel your belief in a brighter future. Although you don't always take a balanced point of view of things, you definitely will stick obstinately to the one you form. New discoveries and anything reconstructive or innovative, catches your attention, and neither public nor private opinion can deter from your way of being no matter how unacceptable others may conceive that to be.

Uranus Trine Saturn

Practical and idealistic you know that nothing lasts forever and see change as a force for good. You see life's difficulties as a chance to prove yourself and live by the motto 'when the going gets tough the tough get going'. Your mindset is a contradictory mix of radical and conservative attitudes and your ambitions may take you down some very unique and perhaps even eccentric paths. Realism grounds noble-minded visions and implement a method that allows you to see them through to completion. Still, poise and calm must be the order of the day and a firm control must be exercised over a temper that when let loose has the power to undo you.

Uranus Square Neptune

Genuinely interested in spiritual matters and humanitarian causes, you take an original approach to these age-old concerns. Physic ability may also be apparent. Although you're willing to go where no one has gone before it sometimes unsettles you. Nevertheless you have an uncanny way of tuning into etheric vibrations and plucking ideas from it. However, owing to the sensitivity that allows you to freely roam etheric realms, you should avoid negative psychic practices, such as Ouija boards. In your search for 'truth and wisdom' look to your higher-self to light the pathway and know with certainty that neither drugs or alcohol will enrich the journey.

NEPTUNE - Intuiting

Neptune represents, intuition, creativity and inspiration. This is energy that is used to express the intangible, mystical, altruistic and unconditionally loving side of human nature. It motivates you to make shifts in consciousness, to express ideals and visions through music, art, spirituality and imagination. Neptune energy empowers you to cope with adversity or change by transcending life's difficulties, and imbues you with a belief that there is a higher purpose in life. It also depicts your core belief, illusions and delusions, escapist tendencies, addictive behaviour and emotional hyper-sensitivity. Neptune energy accesses the deep unconscious side of your psyche, broadens your intuitive right brain function, allows you to intentionally enter an altered state of consciousness, and generates a deeper awareness of the psyche.

Neptune Sextile Sun

Well-developed awareness of social responsibility unites with sensitivity to others. Activities going on in the environment, however imperceptible they may be to others, are plainly felt by you. However the tendency to psychically absorb another's pain can be unbearable and make it difficult if not impossible to do more than acknowledge its existence. Perhaps this is something not willing shared with others, but rather a silent hope that stronger and less sensitive people will deal with the negative causes in society.

Neptune Opposite Moon

Your greatest challenge is to attain emotional satisfaction and this is best done by understanding the nature of your childhood. As a child you were profoundly influenced by the mood of your feminine care-provider. At worst she may have been in bad health, at best she was probably rather sad at times. This evoked guilt feelings in you and an unconscious need to make things better. Actually You're born to be concerned and helpful, so your caregiver cannot be blamed for evoking these feelings in you. You're a very sympathetic person but do need to watch that you don't absorb negative vibrations from the environment or carry the moods of others so distinguish the boundaries between yourself and other people.

Neptune Square Venus

It is likely you have an aesthetic appreciation for beauty and the creative talent to express it. Like most people you want love and affection but for you love needs to also have an element of magic in it. For you to 'be happily in love', intimacy must not lose its romantic feeling, or become a dull routine of going through the motions like the 'quick peck on the cheek' as you go out the door. However you need to give up wishful thinking, because perfect lovers who will sweep you off your feet and take you to the land of 'perfect bliss', only exist in fairytales. You reach out to others with great sincerity and willingly put your desires and needs aside for those you love. You give what aid you can to anyone in need of help but can also fall prey to get rich quick schemes and fast buck carpetbaggers or get sucked in by a good sob story.

Neptune Sextile Jupiter

A cockamamie, optimist endeared to those less fortunate than yourself, you believe that when the Universe dealt its cards it should have dealt a fair cut for everyone. You're a charitable easy touch for a friend in need and will do what you can to aid them. Although you're both a die hard skeptic and a firm believer you're interested in researching metaphysics and religion. It's very possible you also possess psychic ability which you can effectively channel into creative pursuits. However in order to function effectively in the world of daily reality, you need to ground your energy and exercise mental and emotional self-discipline. Because there are also times when you want to throw caution to the wind and gamble on high risk, winner takes all ventures, be advised that unless you can afford to lose..don't.

Neptune Square Uranus

Surrounded by an almost mystical aura you're innovative and idealistic and have the ability to turn your imagined possibilities into reality. If you discipline your mind and emotions you can capture ideas from the ether and use them to your benefit. Exploring metaphysics and gaining a deeper understanding of spiritual precepts may also interest you and quite possibly you're also a gifted psychic. You're extremely sensitive so don't dabble in negative psychic practices, such as the use of Ouija Boards. Take care not to let the ideas of others influence you overmuch either but do keep an open mind and look to your Higher Self for guidance you on your path.

Neptune Sextile Pluto

You have an almost mystical need to explore both the Universe beyond the Earth and the Universe within. Two distinct and complementary directions exist, space travel and satellite technology, exploring the vast outer universe through radio-telescopes, alongside the exploration of inner space by investigating and probing the building blocks of matter through quantum physics. Through the sciences of mathematics and metaphysics you may reach into the natural world in search of answers or look within the inner depths of your own spiritual being.

PLUTO - Regenerating

Pluto represents Destiny and Rebirth. This is energy that is used to transform, and understand the deepest, darkest parts of your psyche, commonly called 'the Shadow Self '. It motivates you to destroy old habits, or end outmoded relationships and affiliations, in order to affect rebirth. Pluto energy is an instinctive understanding that freedom is found by transmuting parts of the self and life that tie you too close to the material plane. Pluto energy brings about complete change and positive reformation. This allows you to recognize the absurdity of all narrow pursuits and understand the long-term process through which you purify and renew yourself and the world. It also depicts the darker side of humanity and often is experienced as an urge to investigate and uncover complex issues of the human condition.

Pluto is Retrograde

A Retrograde Pluto may indicate that you're here to continue lessons with regard to intensity and control. In past lives you experienced many difficulties in this struggle and as you overcame them you gained the hidden strength and power brought forward now into this life. You feel the ills of the world at a personal level and want to know why things are as they are. As you wrestle with inner conflicts and work to change yourself, you also look for hidden truths containing the solution to this problem. You have great capacity for spiritual growth so you may eliminate anything from your life that hinders your quest for transformation as well and not likely will you make public any aid you give to others.

Pluto Trine Sun

You expect a great deal of others, but those expectations are tame compared to the ones you expect of yourself. Much like air that is charged with ions just before an electrical storm the energy you radiate is charged with tension. You would do well to keep this fact in mind because it can make the people you're dealing with feel as if they are in imminent danger and cause them to lose their focus. It may be too late to save some situations but if you can learn to tone down the intensity and open up a bit more to others, you will eventually be unstoppable.

Pluto Trine Moon

A well developed intuitional faculty is likely present as well and your search for inner wholeness may lead you to explore; the deep subconscious mind, study esoteric knowledge, or delve into the veiled and invisible realm of life after death. Using your knowledge to assist others, will help to redirect any self-preoccupation and reduce emotional pressure. Knowing that you're not the only person to experience these types of life difficulties and that you don't walk the path you walk alone will also bring you a measure of inner peace.

Pluto Quincunx Venus

You have developed an oversweet nature calculated to win affection and you invest 200% of yourself to win it. Therefore superficial relationships hold no interest for you. Most likely it is very difficult for you to be consciously aware of what you do, but in the long run this type of emotional investment will exhaust you. Perhaps you may feel that once a bond of intimacy has been established nothing will break it because fate brought you and your partner together. While this may even be true, an unconscious fear which equates love with survival can result in many exhausting emotional scenes. Your relationships will function better when you relax and people will like you more if you don't try so hard to please, and if some people don't well - so what!

Pluto Conjunct Jupiter

You're on a never ending quest to gain more knowledge. From your point of view the more you know, the more you can understand and the more you understand the more you can enlighten others. Perhaps when it comes to your philosophical mindset, you feel as if you cannot rest until you find a way to penetrate the core meaning of life itself. Therefore when you're engaged in a mind-expanding study, you're looking to form a synopsis of accumulated but seemingly unrelated data and never quite satisfied that everything has been included. Nor are you likely to form an opinion until you have thoroughly researched the background information and checked and rechecked all data. This may seem to others as a lot of work to uncover truths they willingly take for granted, but unlike others you have a need to understand before you accept. Once you do make up your mind, nothing short of God can change it.

Pluto Square Saturn

Tenacious and self-determined, what you achieve in life is done through your own efforts and an ability to persevere through any difficulties. You believe that no matter how bad something gets, nothing lasts forever and must eventually improve. You keep a tight rein on your thoughts and emotions and it's most unlikely that anyone will see you give into an angry outburst. You have the capacity to lead others, but the advancements you receive in life do not to happen overnight. Perhaps this is because you feel that what you receive must be earned and you would not feel comfortable were it any other way. The one thing you must not fear is change because change is your teacher. Don't fight it because through it you grow, reform and regenerate yourself. If you refuse to release the old and redirect your path then you will be forced to change on terms other than your own.

Pluto Sextile Neptune

Over the span of your lifetime your capacity to learn from experience will be stimulated and you will periodically undergo transformations that refine your consciousness. During these times spiritual issues will deeply affect you and you may experience a sense of disorientation, as old dreams and visions are replaced by new, psychological insights. Fantasy and imagination may play a powerful role so it is essential that you learn about the power of the unconscious and use your imagination in a positive way.

VII. North Node - Life Path Beacon & South Node - Past Life Baggage

Often called the Dragon's Head, the Moon's North Node symbolizes your present journey's 'Growth Point' whereas the Dragon's Tail or South Node represents Past-Life's learning experiences. The house position of the North Node indicates where you need to apply yourself and where your greatest potential for forward movement lies. Aspects to the North Node illuminate personality traits that either progress or stall your quest for enlightenment and spiritual growth. Aspects to the South Node are not included in this report.

North Node - Sagittarius - 3rd house

You prefer to associate with people who are interested in expanding their understanding of the world and share a similar take on life. Although you lean towards traditional beliefs, you find it difficult to truly commit to any theoretical system because you can also see truths in others. However, clear points of view must be taken towards the world and you must prove, by personal self-direction that you have a right to be heard. You will also have to answer for those opinions, which may not suit you at all, because you like to think you are beyond criticism. Still, it is time to take a firm stance for self-confidence. Now you must remain uninfluenced by more seemingly knowledgeable people and see that all paths up the mountain can only reach a singular peak.

The South Node in Gemini suggests in prior incarnations your main objective was to create a stable lifestyle and provision your personal needs. However you didn't try to raise yourself above your station and were plagued by a dismal feeling that no matter what you acquired materially in life somehow you had failed. Still, you took refuge in your possessions feeling that they represented your worthiness in the eyes of others. Most life lessons were learned the hard way because you believed willpower surpassed insight and anything that could alter your take on life was ignored. This passivity undoubtedly blocked your path forward and now you must erase the idea that it's you against the world and embrace the revolutionary changes occurring within you now.

North Node Semi-Sextile Mars

Innately competitive and ambitious for success, you have with the ability to fully concentrate your energy on achievable goals. Instincts such as courage and assertiveness are well honed and a quick reaction time to any situation gives you a tremendously competitive edge. You're strongly motivated to be part of a group that shares a common goal but to accomplish mutual goals your, 'Ego needs' must be kept in check. If you fiercely defend your ideas without convincing others of their merit, they may see conflict as an unwillingness to co-operate unless, you can be in control. But remember there is no 'I' in team' and the team that works together stays together whereas, groups populated with 'swollen heads' have little chance of achieving their objectives.

VIII. Ego

The Sun rises above frustrating setbacks and carries through the decisions you make as a self-governing individual. The Moon evidences your feelings and experiences the ways others respond to you. Saturn regulates your body's energy and lets you live with the outcome if you don't. These three planets represent separate but equal energies within your 'Ego-Self, and through them you are self-aware. But it may also be necessary to 'wake them up' in order to achieve a balanced persona. All perform in varying degrees of conscious awareness and need to do so harmoniously or a sense of unease is felt within your psyche. Often the lesser planet gets over-worked in an attempt to gain relief, but this puts undue stress on the strongest planet, damping down its effectiveness. The way through this dilemma is to make full use of your strongest function while gaining a better understanding of your lesser function and develop methods to express it without stress.

Primary Ego Planet

Moon-Saturn-Sun

An empathic understanding of others is your greatest strength and you should be able to entitle and empower yourself with relative ease. However, self-awareness and the ability to exercise willpower is likely to require further development.

Ego Circuitry

Because a circuit of energy exists between the 'Sun, Moon and Saturn,' it is most likely that your thoughts, feelings and actions are in sync. However, there is a drawback to this type of 'Ego Integration', which is the tendency to sit on your laurels and assume that you do not have to work at personal growth. Ties to your family and its values are strong. Therefore taking a stand for independence and living as your unique self has been/or will be a process that takes an extended length of time to accomplish.

IX. The Impact of Our Models

All mirroring text is based on my personal experience as an astrologer and does not describe a person's actual personality. Mirrors are the people who make the biggest imprint on your psyche during childhood and range from family members to teachers and neighbors etc. You take from them the parts of their personality that represent lessons you have come to learn in this lifetime and each child in a family relates differently to mutual mirrors. The sex of a mirror is unimportant as each can model masculine or feminine energy and a combination of both. The possible combinations are numerous and many factors such as planets on low points as well as any aspects to them must be taken into account. Mirroring can only be touched on here by; the Sign Coloring of 'The Sun, Moon and Saturn' in your chart, so the text below is Food for Thought, meant only to shed a light on any issue needing resolution.

A sociable, outgoing child, but very determined to be master of yourself, it was virtually impossible for caregivers to force filial duty against your will. Easily chafed if demands to comply were made, only logical explanations, kindness or a simple hug garnered your willing cooperation. Caregivers quickly learned that mental challenges were needed to keep you from becoming stressed and bored. Essentially you were an accommodating, happy child, with a critical need for harmony, a private space and a soft guiding hand. A lover of knowledge you enjoyed reading books and outings that broadened your horizons. Therefore any activities caregivers supported, that fostered learning, problem solving and social interaction, promoted the development of logical deduction, self-confidence and the ability to make decisions.

Your feminine role models were responsible and strongly maternal. Once given their word could be counted on and they worked hard for the things they acquired in life. Possessions gave them a sense of worth and because they feared experiencing hard times resources were contained within the family unit. Fully trusting anyone may have been a problem because they took a person's allegiance to them for granted and were deeply hurt if this proved to be untrue. Quite possibly they also manipulated others from time to time into doing their bidding with an overdose of 'mother love'. Tried-and-true methods accompanied high standards and they tried to instill in children a belief that anything worth doing was worth doing right. You connected with these mirrors to reach an understanding that true self-worth cannot be gained by accumulating worldly goods.

Your masculine role models were quick-witted and sociable. They enjoyed good times with their families and get-togethers with friends. They lived by a code of ethics that left them no room for underachievement and displayed an uncompromising attitude towards any opinions other than their own. They enjoyed the stimulation gained in mental rapport because expressing their innermost feelings through physical touch was either discomfiting or foreign to their nature. This also helped to allay the ill-temper they were prone to if day-to-day living became tedious and hum-drum. They did not tolerate restrictions on their personal freedom and tried to instill in children a belief that there was always something new to learn in the school of life. You connected with these mirrors to avoid becoming stuck in ruts and further develop your questioning mind.

Personal Ray

The four cardinal houses in a chart represent the challenges you have set yourself, so you may grow in personal understanding whereas the Personal Ray blends the physical, mental and emotional variables of your threefold personality into one cohesive function. During childhood, subconscious responses to your environment create a blueprint that will last your entire lifetime, unless through a conscious act of will you redesign it. When your ego is aligned with the cardinal energies, the personal ray functions in holistic union with your soul's purpose.

Ray 1 - Will & Power

A self-governing, charismatic person you're committed to achieving goals and your rallying cry to life is 'when I want to do something I can do it'. Innate self-restraint harnesses will to full concentration on a given task and blocks out anything peripheral or redundant. You're intent on creating new things of lasting value and take umbrage to non-essential conversation and excessive emotional demands that hinder the achievement of your goal. No doubt this purposeful mindset makes you a role model for success, but others may perceive intolerance for all things mundane when preoccupied as unreasonably determined.

You like to be in control of a situation and come straight to the point in any important discussion. As such people have little power to restrict the independent expression of your energy and you prefer that others willingly follow your lead when a plan needs implementing. You're a moral force to be reckoned with and unhesitatingly defend your ethical beliefs, albeit you try to do so graciously so as not to offend those who disagree. The one thing people truly appreciate about you is that you're not locked into any one particular perspective and flexible enough to toss out the old and move on to something showing more promise than your current project.

X. Hemispheres & Quadrants

Your horoscope is divided into four quadrants by two main axes called the Cardinal Cross which defines your orientation in time and space. These are the Personal Identity, Personal Expression, Social Identity and Social Expression Quadrants. The Fixed and Mutable Crosses further split these into three houses per quadrant. Cardinality evinces leadership abilities and strength. Fixity evinces consistency and persistence. Mutability evinces deductive reasoning and adaptability. Although they have a common theme these modes express differently by sign and indicate the manner you employ to achieve your goals.

Planet energies in the Social Identity and Social Expression Quadrants motivate you to seek recognition for achievement and express individuality. In the Personal Identity and Personal Expression Quadrants planet energies express internally and often stay enmeshed in learned behaviors. On the Personal -I-Side planet energies initiate action and direct you to meet your personal needs, whereas planet energies on the Social - You-Side are more reactive and direct you to also meet the needs of others. An emphasis of planet energies in any zone shows a strong focus towards living life from that perspective.

Each cross is made up of one Fire, Earth, Air and Water element, the same four elements that comprise our earth. They represent your physical nature and psychological makeup. Fire is your desire for living and the force that animates you to assert your will or 'Spirit'. It is that in you which is positive, creative, idealistic, courageous and intuitive as against reasoning. Earth comprehends physical reality and sensation. It is that in you which needs material security, physical pleasure and social position. Air is your desire to live in a principled, logical, cultured manner. It is that in you which conceives, rationalizes, invents, communicates and co-operates with others. Water comprehends feeling emotions and expresses 'soul quality'. It is that in you which is compassionate, sensitive, protective, nurturing and expresses concern for human values.

Worldly View

You swing like a pendulum in perpetual motion caught somewhere between alternating states of dependency and self-reliance. Because you need and want to make a difference you invest time and energy publicly. Yet when you really get involved in worldly issues, you battle or cede to an equally strong desire to retreat into a hermitage and let the world pass you by. When you do retreat, it's not long before the desire to get back out there and make a difference becomes a burning need, then the pressure builds and the cycle repeats. There is no doubt these active - reactive sides of your personality can make it more difficult to establish independence, but on the plus side you are gaining a deeper understanding of global concerns.

Introspective and private, you view life as a process of discovery and you're life choices are made to suit yourself not others. Via the process of inner searching and an understanding of your own motives, you learn to interpret the motives of others. Your personal approach to life and the familiar ebb and flow of daily routines add to your over-all sense of security and although you may remain unaware of the fact, your self-assured composure makes an impact on others. To center and recharge your batteries spend some quiet time alone each day.

Relating To The Collective

You're a self-motivated, assertive person and prefer to pursue visions of your own design rather than listen to the dictums of others. Your entrepreneurial spirit puts others on notice that you handle your own affairs and prefer to 'Captain your own Ship though life'. Therefore the freedom to self-express is a life requirement and the key to your personal happiness. Any tendency to become overly focused on goals, or a lack of concern for the rights of others must be addressed. On the other hand you may find contentment behind the scenes, working to aid others on their path. In search of a deeper meaning to existence you may also want to retreat within yourself, and should this be the case, then more effort will be needed to maintain an independent lifestyle and achieve worldly success.

Walking To The Beat Of Your Own Drum

Maintaining independence, is your goal. Plausible explanations for the urge to travel this self-directed life path come from patterns formed in previous life times. It does appear that in those lives you spent more time serving the motives of others, while your own needs sat on a back-burner or were completely ignored. Your task in this life is to; clearly communicate your thoughts and feelings and develop a healthy ego-image. Be aware that you may be ultra-sensitive to any form of criticism and even well meant advice may hurt. Do remember to maintain a good support system of friends and family members that support you in this task. They are the ones who will banish those fears that arise within you during dark despondent times of self-doubt.

Going For The Gold

With a rather equal distribution of the planets around the chart, you have a horoscope that, all things being equal, is remarkably well balanced. You relate positively to most any type of situation that comes along. When appropriate, you can take charge and lead; dig in your heels and support the existing way of doing things; or flow with rapidly changing patterns as they occur. As situations dictate, you can relate easily to the need to create, the need to be practical, the need to think, the need to be emotional, or even to several of these needs at once. Your spark of intensity is balanced by your grasp of the realities and you're able to express emotions with just the right degree of detachment.

Charismatic Presence

You're just as much at home initiating action as dealing with anything routine. Getting stuck in a rut doesn't occur to you, nor does playing an expected role become boring. If you feel you're not moving forward, you instinctively seek to make things happen. If you find that life is moving too fast, you naturally slow down. Of course, there may be times when you miss the nuances of a strong-willed person and the dramas that others project may also go right over your head. However, by not viewing the world through a lens of one particular color, you can read most situations objectively.

Stressed Planets

Cuspal Planets: A planet situated just past the cusp may express energy through displays of status seeking behaviour and will be instantly noticed. However the collective may not respond favorably and keeping the energy expression in check will take an act of concentrated willpower. There is also another complex conundrum because a cuspal planet will attempt to fully embody the energies contained within both the houses divided by that particular cusp.

Balance Point Planets: A planet situated on or near the B.P. does not demand that you put more into the outside world than you are capable of giving. However, it will still require you to consciously control it's energy in order that it may be intelligently focused and made productive.

Low Point Planets: A planet situated on or near the L.P. works on inner levels and there may be difficulty expressing it's energy into the environment. Generally a time of learning and an act of will are needed to fully apply it's energy externally.

Shadow Planets: Much like a mountain climber halted a few steps short of a mountain's peak, a planet approaching, but just short of a house cusp is in a stressed position. This faucet of your personality will want to be noticed and may attempt to attract attention through displays of status seeking behaviour. However it's likely that these exhibits will be frowned on or outright rejected by the collective. Only committed effort, applied gradually over an extended period of time will gain this planet's energy full recognition from the collective and it's pointless to attempt to have it lauded before you can express its function without rejection.

XII. Quadrant 1 - Unconscious I & Personal Identity - Imaging

From the moment of your birth until you reach age 18, your main life focus is on learning how to fully embrace and express 'The Real You. However, self-preservation also requires you to relate harmoniously to your environment and the people within it. Planetary energies in this quadrant want to be noticed and seek to make an 'Impact on the Collective'. Therefore behaviour here is often impulsive and reactive with little if any thought for outcomes. In this respect in adulthood you need to ask yourself; is my survival really threatened or am I reacting from genetic/emotional patterns without any thought of consequence? Experience will be your teacher as you listen to your intuition and question the source of your instinctive motives and responses. If you have planets in this quadrant, remember that in order to be in a position to bring about any improvements within 'the Collective' you must direct your innovative, entrepreneurial energies towards it.

I Side - Encounter Axis - 1st House Cusp - The Ascendant

During the first years of life you are fully open to and easily impressed by sense experiences coming from within your environment. In adulthood recalling events before the age of 2 to mind with any clarity is next to impossible. It is not until between the 2nd and 4th year of life that you see yourself as a person separate from your parents and siblings. As such the security, sustenance and affection, provided or lacking during this time impact your present self-image for ill or good. In this zone planet energies conjuncted by the age point are difficult to incorporate and leave a deep subconscious imprint. Events occurring during this phase of your life, do in one way or another, affect your entire outlook towards both yourself and others.

At the Ascendant, when having left the comfort and safety of your Mother's womb, you entered into physical existence and took your first independent breath. This first contact with life is the 'EGO POINT', or exact degree of the Zodiac Sign Rising over the eastern horizon at the precise moment of your birth. It is specifically dependant on the exact time and latitude of the actual place of your birth. It symbolizes that a unique individual/spirit has incarnated into a particular universal energy pattern, at a specific moment in time. It is the channel through which you comprehend your environment. It is the focus you bring into life. You dream life up, chose your birth time and then enact your dream. The labyrinth is of your own design, freely entered and although at times you may feel lost, it is also your way out.

While any planets in this region do to some extent define you they may also describe the effect your birth had on others. Information regarding your birth experience, and events from the environment that colored your perception of existence, and influenced the way you function as an adult is gleaned from this domain. If there was childhood trauma, these contact points often signify the event and the age it happened. Planetary energy's located in the First House make a very deep impact on your psyche. By co-relating data from this stage of life with other parts of your birth-chart, it is possible to reach a deeper understanding of how you were impacted by your early childhood circumstances and environment. - 1st House Questions: What type of first impression do you make? How do you come to your own defense? How do you respond to change? How do you begin new projects?

Ascendant in Libra

Primal compromising energy and an innate knowing that to combat life's dissonance, you must promote diplomacy, drive your need to be harmonious. You dislike public displays of intense emotions and are sensitive to any underlying tensions in the day to day routines of living. Because your internal distress escalates until resolution is achieved you are at heart a natural peacemaker, and willingly mediate disputes in order that civil decorum may be restored. Nonetheless, your ability to see a viewpoint from all perspectives can render you speechless. Regrettably, if by chance the dispute also involves you, more often than not you placate the person rather than confront the issue.

Your sense of fair play and need for outright equivalence dominates every facet of your life. You're seeking a balance between thought and feeling, head and heart, self and others - in fact pretty much everything. You prefer to get your needs met in an open honest way and this is relatively easy when your tranquil, conciliatory disposition is functioning. However, if for some reason you're rejected a very different person behind the mask may be displayed. In a state of depressive, anxiety true feelings and needs cease to be revealed. Deception may underlie all the charm, and a subtle form of compromise becomes the method used to achieve the goal. Because you're gracious almost to a fault few if any people will ever stop to think you can manipulate them.

Planets On The Encounter Axis:

Neptune in Libra

You are part of a generation that seeks a different approach to intimate relationships and feels that experimental cohabiting before commitment lets couples unsuited to permanency avoid a messy divorce. Your peer group, also created new kinds of social groupings, such as communes and is the first generation to live under the ever present threat of nuclear annihilation. As a gestalt of people equal in race and creed, but ethnically different individually, your generation idealizes peace and is intensely committed to accomplishing worldwide unity. Your peer generation understands the interconnectedness of life on this planet and is prepared to lobby for its beliefs because it sees itself as a part of this greater whole.

A sensitive, dreamer, easily influenced by peoples moods and feelings, the boundaries between you and others may need some shoring up. The possibility exists that you exhibit chameleon like behavior by reflecting the image of whomever you're with and the bump and grind of the workday world can be very stressful on your psyche. To some extent you derive your identity by becoming what other people need you to be and perhaps you also have a closet of assorted personas you wear for different people. Remember to maintain your sense of self and guard against the influence of negative energies around you because if you let pessimistic people into your personal space they can unintentionally drain off all your energy and initiative.

31 mos. - Age Point at - 1st house Balance Point.

Fortified with a vague understanding of who you were, you took your first bold steps to assert independence and establish personal boundaries. Although uncertain of exactly what your rights were, you demand they be respected and by so doing learned you must also respect the rights of others. When your tentative boundaries were violated, you responded by stubbornly planting your feet in a firm defiant stance and refused to 'toe the line'. Unfortunately this is also where your parents might have broken your will, by physically enforcing compliance to their criteria. If for example you had to tolerate unwanted hugs and kisses or inappropriate touching took place, as an adult you may have problems with body image and not know where to draw a line in your own defense.

3 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 1st House Low Point.

Although the difference between men and women was not yet crystal clear, you identified sexually with your same sex parent. Unprompted by them you formed your first peer relationships and laid the foundations for interrelating socially. Physical changes such as losing baby teeth took place and you began to develop a conscience as you reached to incorporate the qualities of the second phase of life.

Age 6 - AP at 2nd House Cusp - Possession Axis

You entered this phase of life fully aware of your distinct individuality with a need to know what was personally yours and what was not. Old broken toys took on a new meaning and you guarded them like precious treasures. The need to define things as personally yours related to your sense of worth and played a very important part in determining your present attitude towards ownership today. The value of said item was not of import here, only that your right to keep or dispose of a of cherished prize was honored. Any violation of rights during this phase may have lead you to develop an excessive need to acquire or possess more in order to feel secure. Overindulgence in food is also a common compensatory response.

Environment - House 2

Developing and understanding values is the theme of this house. You strive to protect yourself from, injury or an untimely demise. To some extent property is associated with your sense of worth. Effort is necessary for monetary gain and the way others define your capabilities effects your ability to acquire material goods. Possessions are things you own, but these are not limited to mere material affluence. You own your emotions, abilities, needs and wants. Over time you come to define talents such as, an inquiring mind, a flair for writing or artistic talent, as possessions, which give substance to your Ego-Identity. - 2nd House Questions: What do you value and why do you value it? What can you truly own and why do you want to own it? Do you love and value yourself ?

1 Side - Possession Axis in Scorpio

Your personal value system hinges on securing financial independence and every dollar you amass represents another entry into your personal value ledger. You are emotionally attached to your resources and do not allow others to pry into your private affairs. Financial freedom is the badge of honor that lets you proudly strut your stuff and say, look what I've accumulated through my own efforts. As long as you're not infringing on their rights you expect people to respect yours and once you have decided on a course of action, seldom do you change your mind. You value honesty, stand behind your word once given and don't hesitate to defend the truisms you embrace. You want money to make money and you generally make sound investments based on research, nonetheless there will be ups and downs in your assets.

Planets On The Possession Axis:

Mars in Scorpio

Determination is your strong suit and self-discipline is your middle name. You're ambitious for success and expect to see tangible results for the energy you expend. You judge others by their status and because you know exactly what you want and how to get it, you befriend those who can advance your goals. You firmly believe your best resource is your capacity to relate to people and exude an aura of fearlessness that much like the scorpion, warns others that you are not someone to mess with. As effective in silence as in speech, you hold your ground in a confrontation and only rarely concede defeat.

You are deeply impressed by the prestige given to those who can display possessions earned through personal achievement and want to acquire an impressive portfolio. But, an 'I want what I want and I want it now' spending habit tends to defeat the purpose and make it difficult for you to achieve this goal. You know how to put your best foot forward and your ambitions nature easily attracts the notice of others yet you fear being self-assertive when trying to gain their respect. However, championing your values is much more likely to incline others to seek your services, so remember possessions are only badges of honor won on the battlefield of life, not symbols of your personal worth.

Saturn in Scorpio

You're patient, persistent and resourceful in even the most adverse of circumstances. You want to know what lies beyond the veil of death and gain a deeper understanding of life's purpose. Your search may lead you to explore hidden meanings in esoteric philosophies or probe the depths of the human psyche. Sex, another of life's great mysteries is also an important issue for you, because passionate emotions seeking expression try to dispel your fear of opening up 'Pandora's Box'. Therefore, you need to validate your feelings and learn when, where and how to release emotion that does more harm than good from projecting into your conscious life.

You have an underlying fear of poverty and need the head-trip achieving security through personal effort provides. However, duty is your ever-present partner and you risk physical burnout with a 'work now play later' attitude. You stretch a dollar a mile and turn frugality into an art form but abundance is meant to be both managed and enjoyed. A conservative approach does guard against material loss, but it's your harsh self-judgment that keeps you from feeling worthy of the inner security you seek. Save wisely yes and establish sensible material values but don't identify with what you own. Anchor yourself in reality and give yourself permission to pamper yourself now and then because unlike death and taxes, poverty is not a given.

8 yrs, 5 mos. - Age Point at - 2nd House Balance Point.

Your belief in fairy-tales such as the Easter Bunny and Santa Clause died as a new perception of reality dawned. You saw that just as childhood illusions had proven untrue, once precious, treasures broke and no permanent security was gained by continuing to cling to them. You respected the property rights of others and expected to be treated in kind. You turned away from unrealistic expectations in search of a new way to build a secure foundation within your environment.

9 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 2nd House Low Point.

Although still pre-pubic, your body began to change and the opposite sex looked interesting, albeit it was still somewhat of a mystery. Education took center stage as your need to know became an urge to satisfy and comprehend, through observation and first hand experiences. You willingly, learned without the assistance of others and incorporated the most information you ever will in such a short span of time.

Age 12 - AP at 3rd House Cusp - Thinking Axis

As you entered this phase of life puberty was in full bloom and your sexual development went into high gear. Hormones raged and confusing feelings surfaced for that mysterious opposite sex. The family home was no longer the exclusive domain where you shared your innermost thoughts and feelings. Intimate friendships formed as you fully bonded with your peer group. Although you and your peers were still very much dependant on the nurture and support of your families, you wanted to be seen as different from them. Ergo you embraced a unique peer identity, through unusual styles of clothing, hair and speech.

Environment - House 3

Accurately processing objective data is the theme of this house. You quest for public knowledge and share it with others. You learn through experiences and observation, to process information correctly. You develop the clinical left brain logic function and forge a coding system of serviceable life-principles. Your mind is powerful, quick and dexterous. Some responses are well-thought out, others nearly automatic. - 3rd House Questions: Are you both a listener and a conversationalist? Do you accept or question data? How tightly shackled are you to what you were taught?

I Side - Thinking Axis in Sagittarius

The way you think and interact with others is influenced by an ever present need for mental stimulation. Mental curiosity leads to broadening global percepts and a deeper understanding of spiritual theorems. You love to travel and thrill to challenges that test your mental mettle. You are known for your interest in a broad range of topics and your optimistic outlook attracts those in need of advice. However if a tendency to miss small important details while focusing on the big picture gets out of hand others may think you are only spouting gibberish. In general inclinations to wanderlust can create strain in relationships but as a rule daily interaction with relatives and neighbors is warm and friendly. To anyone you feel a special bond with you are particularly attentive.

Sun in Capricorn

Expressing your intellectual ability is a key thread that touches all you do and are. What do I need to know and how can I share my knowledge are questions you ask and any information that aids you in this feat is willingly accepted. You want to impact others with your words and sharing what you discover brings you joy. Learning is at the very core of your being and the development of your rational mind is of paramount importance to your life. Therefore you seek to accumulate, synthesize and understand information in order to effectively impart it.

You're blessed with dauntless determination and self-disciplined in thought and action. Although eager for recognition, you want any honor to be based on merits you personally earn. The dedication to duty you display is downright awe-inspiring to others. You are thrifty, abhor waste and disinterested in get-rich-quick schemes. You're not aggressive and although straightforward in speech you hesitate to share your feelings. Your knack for swimming with the flow of society, lets you champion social order and your quiet, reserved exterior belies an enthusiastic, adventurer with an appetite for life.

Mercury in Capricorn

You are an analytical thinker and knowledge must serve a useful purpose. Your first response to new data is to dissect it and see the whys of its functioning then either store or discard it. You value your time and think it best spent on productive projects and once your mind is set to something you accomplish it. You look for answers in tested methods rather than trying something innovative and before you accept a proposal you want to know the facts behind it. A realist rather than an idealist, you're aware of your objectives and know how to achieve them.

You're a versatile communicator with an insatiable thirst for knowledge and as you're curious about all and sundry you never tire of pursuing it. You enjoy intellectual challenges and always have an appropriate answer to someone's question. You're an ideas person interested in gaining the skills you need to succeed in life and you never doubt you can achieve your goals. You put a lot of thought into your projects and because you willingly learn through personal experience you adapt to changing circumstances with relative ease.

14 yrs 5mos. - Age Point at - 3rd House Balance Point.

Having established commonality with your peer group, you set about being seen as a unique individual, however you were still in the process of discovering who you were. Ever watchful parents took note of this fact and just as you were about to soar like a bird on its first flight, your wings got clipped. You needed to identify with your peer group and yet remain loyal to the beliefs and customs of your family. These conflicting viewpoints caused a great deal of inner stress as you struggled to grasp and embrace differing views towards life and morals. The more attached your parents were to their beliefs, standards and cultural mores, the greater the pressure there was to conform to their dictums. Feelings of being misunderstood, in this phase of life can still bring about states of depression, in adult life.

15yrs. 9mos. - Age Point at - 3rd House Low Point.

Seasoned by an identity crisis you sought broader connections as your thinking patterns were enhanced with the maturation of abstract thought. The knowledge you acquired had a broader scope and was related to the essentials you needed to sustain an independent lifestyle. You wanted freedom from parental constraints and finding the ways and means to achieve it was your main concern. You developed a rudimentary philosophy towards life in general, saw the world in a different political light and may even have felt a desire change it. To some degree your thinking became enmeshed with feeling, as you moved towards incorporating the qualities of the fourth phase of life.

XIII. Quadrant 2 - Unconscious You & Personal Expression - Interacting

Over the next 18th years your focus shifts to 'Impressing the Collective' rather than just impacting it. You begin to comprehend the 'Grand Scheme' and understand the distinctive role you are meant to play out within it. In order that you may touch base with and fully attune to the 'Collective', planetary energies here, aid you in relating so you may truly express your own uniqueness. To fully achieve this you need to live in the moment of 'Now' and deal with the day to day challenges that are inherent in the very process of existence. Through the careful analysis of responsive behaviors, critical insight and personal growth can be gained. When you understand this process you will relate to people from all walks of life and 'Impress the Collective' by applying your discerning, energies to better the overall conditions within it.

Age 18 - AP at 4th House Cusp - Individuality Axis

As you entered this phase of life you saw your parents in a new light and took the final steps towards maturity. No longer were they the stodgy, elder citizens you once thought them to be. In the best of circumstances, they welcomed your passage into adulthood and your relationship with them took on the added flavor of friendship. You wanted to earn your own money and spend it as you saw fit. You needed the freedom to chose your friends and the privacy to express yourself, without every word and action being scrutinized by over-protective parents. If you could not manage this feat while remaining in the family home, you took the necessary measures to go on your own. It is not unusual for men and women to marry to achieve independence when parents are not supportive of bachelor hood.

Environment - House 4

Understanding nurture is the theme of this house. You work at fulfilling your 'inner-child's needs'. You give and receive love, in a safe, meaningful interchange. You develop the clinical right brain intuitive emotive function and forge a coding system of emotional responses. Family values and cultural heritage shape your reactions and define the way you seek support and acceptance. A sense of belonging is what makes a home and you acquire your own private niche to comfortably integrate all that influenced you during childhood. - 4th House Questions: What are your family's traditions and values and will you still be loved if you defy them? How do you nurture yourself? What do you need to feel secure?

I Side - Individuality Axis in Capricorn

Your home is your castle, the bastion of security and comfort from the world. Others might feel that you live in rather austere surroundings, or that there is something impersonal about it. Nevertheless you are very possessive of your home and like it exactly as it is. Although you're not overly fond of disorganization and clutter you don't take kindly to someone moving your things around even if you do believe that all things must serve a purpose and have a proper place. You also believe a home should be a comfortably relaxing environment to live in. Therefore your shoes may be left at the door, reference books piled at the bedside and that tool you always need to have handy dropped at the last place it was used.

Planets On The Individuality Axis:

Mercury is Cuspal the 4th house cusp:

Venus in Aquarius

Most comfortable in friendship, you express affection in an unconventional and rather detached way. You take commitment seriously and once pledged, fealty to your family and friends is legendary. You tolerate faults in others, because that is part of the variety you seek in people. However, if you chose too, you can also manipulate people into doing your bidding, because you intuit their underlying motives and know exactly what they want from you. Many people will seek you out for friendship, but only a small few will ever capture your long-term interest in them.

Whether or not you have the finer things in life, emotional security is very important to you and your home is the haven where you share yourself with loved ones. You need to live in harmony and because you're sensitive to people's needs more often than not you yield to their requests unless it violates your principles. However, when you simply knuckle under, you limit your ability to succeed by appearing weak and need to be more assertive when you're challenged. Remember peace at any price is much to high a price to pay and sometimes you need to rock the boat.

20 yrs, 5 mos. - Age Point at - 4th House Balance Point.

A lack of employment or a need for educational funding may necessitate that you rely on the family to insure your daily sustenance. However any forced compliance to outdated limits on your personal freedom is difficult if not impossible to comply with. Rooming with a friend and eating out of a can if necessary may be the choice you make. Leaving your childhood home is either an amicable occasion complete with a family celebration, or a painful door-slamming event. The latter may close the door to all you hold dear or cause lifetime rifts. In spite of drawbacks or delays you sally forth on your journey.

21 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 4th House Low Point.

By now your parents are more or less resigned to the fact that their attempt to mold you into a carbon-copy of themselves has failed. Love and marriage is on your horizon or an accomplished feat. Quite possibly you have children of your own to raise. Your focus is on carving out a personal niche and achieving social status. You are fully in charge of your life and eager to make a personal impact on the world as you move towards incorporating the qualities of the fifth phase of life.

Age 24 - AP at 5th House Cusp - Relationship Axis

The hustle and bustle of the world compels you to focus on performance and achievement. You jostle aggressively with competitors to establish your career and find a loving life-mate. Success is the name of your game. Hard knocks, are both taken and given as part of the learning process. You measure your capabilities against reality and consciously discover your limitations. In the process a distinct behavior pattern emerges, one you carry throughout the remainder of your life. Others identify this pattern as exclusively yours. It is based on your specific style of facial expressions, speech, hand gestures, laughter, deportment and dress.

Environment - House 5

The ability to 'self-express' is the theme of this house. You convey your individuality by embracing the creative force within you. You give credence to your talents and attributes by testing them out in society. Risks to prove your mettle, are willingly taken and you promote yourself to publicly affirm your worth. You function your 'inner child's need to play and create a life in which you experience joy in living. You perceive your efforts as successes or failures, accept both acclaim and rejection and learn to win or lose with the same amount of grace. - 5th House Questions: Are you accepted for who you are? What are your talents? How do you get noticed? What emotional release suits you best?

You Side - Relationship Axis in Aquarius

You don't gamble on anything in life and you fall in love with your head rather than your heart. Emotional responses are nice though not a requirement for you to fall in love. However the ability to communicate is a must because intellectual stimulation is the fire that lights your desire. You seldom lack companionship and your social life tends to revolve around a small but select group of friends. You have a flair for artistic pastimes and are most likely gifted and interested in anything pertaining to music. You genuinely love your children, who from an early age you treat as unique individuals. You encourage them to become all they can in life and as you show them the same respect you do an adult they relate to you with unguarded love and honesty as well.

The Fifth House of your chart is not set into motion through planetary energies. This is an indicator that your attitude towards creative expression expresses largely through the energies contained within the sign on this House Cusp. You're overall character is fairly balanced so issues of creative self-expression or the ability to enjoy life are not likely to present a problem. For a deeper understanding of the ways in which you gain recognition for achievement look to the interpretations on the Sun and aspects it makes to other planets.

26 yrs, 5 mos.- Age Point at - 5th House Balance Point.

The ladder of success is turning out to be harder to climb than you first expected and the rewards you are receiving less than those you seek. Home and work both vie for your attention and time. There is pressure to expend equal energy on both. Marriage or the single-life may not be the state of bliss you dreamed of. You are faced with finding a more balanced approach to life. Expectations of yourself and others need tailoring to fit your new reality to stabilize the situation. If you do not achieve this, it is most unlikely the environment will support your old beliefs. Family breakdown and a loss of prestige may well be an event on the horizon.

27 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 5th House Low Point.

You test your mettle against others and acquire knowledge needed to hold your ground against all comers. Fortified by this new perspective you take strategic risks on success by giving it everything you've got. Your achievements are judged accordingly and either rejected or publicly acclaimed by others. In either case a validation of your performance is witnessed. You come to understand that professional status and reputation are based on your ability to provide a service to others as you move towards incorporating the qualities of the sixth phase of life.

Age 30 - AP at 6th House Cusp - Existence Axis

You have something to offer the world and want to find the niche where you can comfortably provide it. Attaining suitable employment is a play between your skills and possibilities. You place a realistic value on your services because not doing so means scraping by. You seek a balance in order that you may serve the needs of others as equitably as they serve yours. You know that by maintaining a beneficial standard of health and stress free living conditions, you can expend your energy more efficiently.

Environment - House 6

Responsible service is the theme of this house. You understand the interrelatedness of 'mind and body'. You optimize physical performance and selectively choose knowledge you can incorporate into the daily routines of living. You provide services in a responsible, meaningful manner and further yourself through serving others. Left brain function reduces matters into separate components that clearly define you in terms of what you are versus what you're not. You learn to cope in the face of adversity and manage yourself in a manner that guarantees you a vital existence. - 6th House Questions: Why are diet, fitness and hygiene important? How do you mollify feelings of loneliness? How can you improve yourself?

You Side - Existence Axis in Pisces

You tend to soak up the moods and feelings of those around you. As such the environment you work in on a daily basis will have a bearing on your overall health. Negative people can zap your energy 'faster than a jack rabbit can run' without you knowing it's happening. You want to provide a service to others but can be far too self-sacrificing and willing to carry loads that others shirk. Easing the burdens of others is one thing but don't allow them to take advantage of your better nature and burn out just when you need full energy the most. At night you wind up stressed and too fatigued to relax. If you're working in an environment that produces the above results, no matter the wage it's counterproductive to your overall health.

The Sixth House of your chart is not set into motion through planetary energies. This is an indicator that your attitude towards health and service expresses largely through the energies contained within the sign on this House Cusp. Health and work-related issues are not likely to be a predominant concern, but of course outside influences can upset this balance, forcing you to devote more time and energy to these parts of your life. However most issues will be easier to resolve and of shorter duration. For a deeper understanding of the ways in which you serve yourself and others look to the interpretations on Mercury and aspects it makes to other planets.

32 yrs, 5 mos. - Age Point at - 6th House Balance Point.

Major and minor reversals of circumstance may occur. If you allow it, refusals, cancellations and frustrations undermine your self-respect and belief in your capabilities. You are aware that the world does not wait on those who falter here. Any illusory dreams you birthed through naive thoughts have become a sobering reality as they fail to materialize. Feelings of 'I'm not good enough' and 'no one needs me', may lead to a defensive stance, or projecting the blame on others. This is the time to abandon all unrealistic expectations. This is the time to set your sites on achievable goals suited to your personality.

33 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 6th House Low Point.

Feelings of despair have passed and a new orientation to life turns you towards embracing workable goals. Although these come with their own set of problems and may take longer to realize the courage to apply yourself has returned. You are content in the knowledge that you made life suitable choices that bolster your progresses. All pretense is gone as you let the chips fall where they may and move towards incorporating the qualities of the seventh phase of life.

XIV. Quadrant 3 - Conscious You & Social Identity - Voicing

At the age of 36 your focus is still on 'Impressing the Collective' but now you also want to empathize with it by accurately interpreting the needs within it. Planetary energies here, seek to meet your personal needs while also mediating the needs of others in a collective context. Therefore it is important to achieve an objective outlook and acknowledge that other people's realities are just as valid as your own. You learn to do this through the exchange of ideas, thinking outside the box and by perceiving as many possibilities and needs as is feasible for you to do so. Once you have embraced this process you can raise a voice worth listening to, and share your comprehensive, enlightened wisdom with 'the Collective'.

Age 36 - AP at 7th House Cusp - Encounter Axis

The Turning Point at the Descendant, signifies a period of readjustment. These are the most successful years of life. Your focus turns to clarifying goals, self perception, physical reality and outward expression. Others recognize and fully accept you as you are and you look for opportunities that embody the qualities of your inner self. You meet and make firm commitments to others. In this phase of expanded awareness you may also opt for a career change, drop current affiliations and accommodate only yourself. If you have followed in the footsteps of a parental professional such as a lawyer, but really wanted to be a travel agent, you might throw in the towel and become one.

Environment - House 7

Developing and understanding intimacy is the theme of this house. You express affection and develop deep personal relationships. You learn to trust and the meaning of equality. You come together in familiarity with another equal but separate 'I' to create a balanced, loving 'We' while maintaining your individuality. In this environment of mutual acceptance and respect you experience yourself subjectively. As you cooperate with and relate to these people they verify your self-worth and you find joy in being who you are. - 7th House Questions: Why did you choose this relationship? Do you place overmuch importance on other people? Is your role based on inter-dependence or co-dependent neediness?

You Side - Encounter Axis in Aries

Although you don't like to admit it, you need others to feel complete. You're ultra-sensitive to criticism and tend to overreact to anything you perceive to threaten your rights and yet you're attracted to people who assert themselves. Oddly enough, as much as you love harmony and peace, your relationships, including your marriage may at times be war zones. As such you can feel much like a ship tossing around on a stormy sea one day and sailing in the warmth of gentle breezes the next. Still, you would rather not face the world alone so in spite of any difficulties involved you work hard to maintain all your relationships, but not with quite the same amount of zeal or conflict.

Moon in Aries

Beneath a shy persona beats a courageous heart. Your responses are quick and instinctive so people know you can be relied on in a crisis. Because you are direct and honest in your dealing with others you prefer they be forthright with you as well. You fight for what you believe in and there are times when you speak and act before you think. However you always apologize for the outburst or saying things you don't really mean. The one thing that often gets you out of a sticky situation is your sense of humor and an ability to turn the tables on yourself.

You want to be needed and feel that you belong. You seek emotional support so the promise of a loving family in a cozy nest can overpower and cloud your objective perception of reality. You derive your sense of identity by accommodating others and a kindly person who needs 'mothering' may be the type of friend or mate you opt for. Be aware that your need for constant change will also affect the overall tone of your relationships and more than one marriage is a possibility.

38 yrs, 5 mos. - Age Point at - 7th House Balance Point.

Your new realization of self can also evoke a rejection response in a significant other. If you have been living under a spell you will find this to be a very painful emotional time as grand illusions come crashing down. Responsibilities to others can feel like burdens and an intimate relationship deepens or collapses. You weather this time, through loving, honest communication and your willingness to honor individual needs, or you separate. Give your partner time to adjust to your changes and if need be seek the aid of a professional counselor. Otherwise the life you worked so hard to build together will cease to have meaning.

39 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 7th House Low Point.

The midpoint on your journey is passed and the first vestiges of aging are visible. You may hide these from the prying eyes of others through eye-tucks, lipo-suction, added hair-pieces or under layers of makeup. Nevertheless your body takes note and ever so slightly changes its responses. To avoid the facts and stall the process you may throw yourself into strenuous activities such as jogging, cycling and fad diets. This is of no avail. Your parents are elder citizens and your children are growing up. Your persona is now complete as you move towards incorporating the qualities of the eighth phase of life.

Age 42 - AP at 8th House Cusp - Possession Axis

Children are becoming independent individuals. They don't require the same amount of support and you may no longer be the light that guides their path. Liberated from these responsibilities you discover a new sense of freedom as energy and finances are given to other pastimes. Men and women who remained at home to raise their children may return to the work force or invest more time on the green perfecting their golf skills. You ask yourself, what is the meaning of life and begin to search for answers.

Environment - House 8

Transforming yourself is the theme of this house. You eliminate or regenerate any superfluous relationship, possession or ideology that no longer defines you or gives meaning to your existence. You transform your 'inner self' by transmuting outmoded values, mannerisms and behaviors. You become more than you were and all that you are by freeing trapped energy and consciously incorporate your 'Shadow-Self' into your Psyche. You accept and acquire from others, exert yourself in order to exist and surrender to awareness of your own mortality. Endings and new beginnings are part of your daily life and sex, death and rebirth are on the same level playing field. - 8th House Questions: What secrets do you keep and why? Do you willingly release or stubbornly hold onto outmoded behaviors?

You Side - Possession Axis in Taurus

While you're not inclined to compete with the 'Jones' you do prefer a lifestyle equal or better to the 'status quo'. Although you have a head for business and an instinct for sound investments, you're not one to spend your own or another's money foolishly. This conservative approach will serve you well in a dry spell or untold financial crises. However you're very attached to your personal possessions so joint resources may be a bone of contention in a partnership. In sexual matters you're a sensual, passionate lover and you pay attention to your partners needs. You give to kith and kin all that loyalty implies and expect the same consideration to be returned in kind. Therefore it's likely that your practical mindset will guarantee most of your needs in life get met..

The Eighth House of your chart is not set into motion through planetary energies. This is an indicator that your attitude towards sexual expression and fiscal gain expresses largely through the energies contained within the sign on this House Cusp. You will still enjoy a rewarding sex life and experience a certain amount of instability but these matters are not likely to be all consuming or difficult to handle. For a deeper understanding of the ways in which you conduct yourself in intimate relationships and manage your money look to the interpretations on Mars and Pluto and the aspects they makes to other planets.

44 yrs, 5 mos. - Age Point at - 8th House Balance Point.

In an attempt to postpone the aging process you may fight against physical changes by creating a public facade of youthfulness. Your children may have left the nest and the death of a beloved parent is not an uncommon event during this time as well. You may have an affair or opt to leave a long term relationship. Perhaps for the first time, the security needed to sustain you in old age is an issue and you are working to resolve it. Caught somewhere between the desire to remain young and vigorous and the need to let life take its course you take note that this is not a passing phase and come to grips with the changes aging brings.

45 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 8th House Low Point.

You adapt to thinking patterns and seek a renewed approach to spirituality. You understand that there are more important values in life than money, material possessions and social status. They do provide you with the necessary comforts of living and guarantee existence, but do not comfort a soul seeking answers. The questions you ask now are ages old and have been asked by countless generations before you. The answers are found in differing ways. Perhaps traditional systems will sustain you, or metaphysics may fill the void as you move towards incorporating the qualities of the ninth phase of life.

Age 48 - AP at 9th House Cusp - Thinking Axis

To validate human existence you ask yourself; where was I before birth? what happens to me when I die? is there some greater purpose to life? has all my toil and pain to exist been meaningless and for naught? Answers to these questions if not found in the faith of your choice come through perceptive reasoning, intuitive faculties and dreams. No matter the how the answer is reached, these difficult suppositions are answered to your satisfaction by you alone. Once determined you have a measure of peace and serenity.

Environment - House 9

Developing a personal philosophy is the theme of this house. You look to higher mind to 'know' beyond the known and attain visionary lucidity. You express yourself outwardly through intellectual pursuits and challenge the 'status quo'. You change your perception, accept that which is greater than you and your world to embrace a higher sense of self. You expand your knowledge through higher education. You intuitively, embrace the new, overcome difficult experiences and improve your life through logical thought. By perceiving life in a broader context you weigh connections, implications and ramifications, draw your own conclusions and shape the ethics by which you live. - 9th House Questions: What do you believe? Where can you find 'Truth'? Why do you need to know?

You Side - Thinking Axis in Gemini

Amiable and agreeable you're an arresting speaker and at your best when discussing the meaning of life and the ramifications of living it. You're fascinated by many different concepts and interested in exploring philosophies, from existentialism to rigid dogmas in search of the ever illusive 'truth'. However you may find it extremely difficult to stay true to a singular belief system. You may even convert others to your latest theory, but as they carry the flag you waved forward, you move on to something new. You're very curious about foreign cultures and travel will enhance your knowledge base but if far-away journeys can't be taken, it's likely you surf the internet on all and sundry topics that is freely posted for anyone looking for information

The Ninth House of your chart is not set into motion through planetary energies. This is an indicator that your attitude towards higher learning expresses largely through the energies contained within the sign on this House Cusp. Your life philosophy and the extent to which you choose to expose yourself to higher education should not be major issues because you take much of your learning from life itself. For a deeper understanding of the ways in which you develop and embrace belief systems look to the interpretations on Jupiter and Uranus and the aspects they make to other planets.

50 yrs, 5 mos. - Age Point at - 9th House Balance Point.

The truisms you believe and trust in change or simply go from your life. You feel like you are drifting in a 'no man's land' and wonder why you scurry through life to win its prizes. To what purpose did you acquire so much knowledge. Many things make no sense at all anymore. Questing for significance you look back to youthful years full of hope and courage for solutions that helped you weather teenage angst. Personal interests are of lesser interest now. You let go of previously held perceptions as wisdom replaces a state of ennui.

51 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 9th House Low Point.

People are in need of the knowledge and skills you possess so you make a leap of faith. Until you have further proof to confirm or refute your new philosophy, you let it ride and continue to search for deeper meaning. You have attained a measure of stature and want to see your accomplishments acknowledged. Responsibilities to society at large beckons and you intend to have the world continue to take you seriously. You get on with life in a new way and eager to prove you still have what it takes as you move towards incorporating the qualities of the tenth phase of life.

XV. Quadrant 4 - Conscious I & Social Expression - Advising

At the age of 54 your focus shifts back to making an 'Impact on the Collective'. Planetary energies here work compassionately within 'the Collective' and seek to make contributions that advance the self-realization of others. If you have not yet learned to accept that you are a unique individual among billions of unique individuals within a 'Universal Collective' then you must do so in this quadrant. You do this by stepping back from the bustle of existence and going within yourself through activities such as meditation and inner searching. When you have developed a clear consciously formed self-expression you can impart your intuitive, illuminated perceptions and finally should you wish to do so 'Impact the Collective'.

Age 54 - AP at 10th House Cusp - Individuality Axis

This is your moment of truth. Strengthened with a new sense of hope you apply yourself to the task of making a final stand for recognition and peak fulfillment of your life expectations. There is no room for misconceptions here as you submit your efforts for public judgment. Any prestige or promotions received are based on real merit. Employers and administrators judge your competence and promote or pass you over. Disrepute falls on those who have attempted to fake success, by laying claim to credit rightfully belonging to others.

Environment - House 10

Understanding higher authority and gaining recognition is the theme of this house. You rise above mediocrity, by demonstrating your capacity to do so. Fully aware and in need of validation, you draw attention to the legitimacy of your efforts. Experiences that affect your profession and public position define the terms of what you may accomplish. You exercise mature authority over yourself and others and take control of your destiny. You understand that success is achieved with the aid of the system and by making worthwhile contributions to it. Laurels received even if they be intangible gratify your ego and have a bearing on your overall sense of security. - 10th House Questions: What role do you choose and how can you best fill it? What do you want to achieve? Do you have what it takes to stick with a long-term goal?

I Side - Individuality Axis in Cancer

You strive for personal prominence and are driven to reach the pinnacle in your chosen field. You're not one to climb to the top on the backs of others but know there is still the possibility of jealous backbiting so you take great pains to keep your upstanding reputation from being sullied in any way. You're sensitive to the tempo of public whims and can easily turn this to your fiscal advantage by catering to their needs. You show genuine concern for others and are sympathetic to the moods and feelings of your coworkers. Therefore the odds are good they honor you and show you due respect. However compassion can also be taken to the extreme so resist the urge to mollycoddle anyone under your supervision.

Planets On The Individuality Axis

Uranus in Leo

Highly ingenious and independent, your name-tag reads 'I am not a conformist'. You're an action-oriented, ground-breaker drawn to stimulating jobs that challenge you to channel your progressive insights into practical applications. You follow your own directives and enjoy working with people a bit offbeat because they help you develop your creativity to its fullest and offset the humdrum of repetitive nine-to-five work routines. You support movements that work toward global changes and it's quite likely that your political perspectives are also liberal. However, your career will have its ups and downs because you also chart your own course through life. Still, it's critical that you have the freedom to do things your way and feel fulfilled in your employment.

Your peer group seeks to gain greater freedom for creative self-expression. You're forthright in your dealings with others and want to impact the world on your own terms. Because you seek recognition, you may even enjoy projecting the image of a free spirited eccentric. You accept a person's right to express their sexual orientation and may yourself be willing to cohabit in an open or alternative relationship. However, you also want to expand your personal power and as you're firm in your beliefs you refuse to brook any interference into your approach to life. Still, you must remember to exercise self-discipline because contempt for authority will keep you from reaching your goals as quickly as you wish too.

56 yrs, 5 mos. - Age Point at - 10th House Balance Point.

If you achieved some form of tenure, you now feel rivals champing at your heels as juniors wait impatiently to unseat you. It is lonely at the top and the responsibilities are a stressful load to carry. The energy required to maintain the top position has become physically exhausting. You are consolidating financial affairs and hoping that you have planned well enough for monies to meet your needs when the opportunity to earn a wage goes. Youthful energy wanes and you pace yourself to remain healthy. If financial security is lacking there can also be a state of panic as you attempt to rectify the situation. The danger here lies in falling for quick get rich schemes that promise high yield returns on risky investments to make up for shortfalls in financial planning.

57 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 10th House Low Point.

There are times when your balance is shaken and stability is only found in grounded principles. Casual acquaintances fall by the way side as if by some unspoken mutual pact you agree to put distance between each other. Close associations with fellow workers ebb and you feel 'replaceable'. You envision pleasurable, easygoing, scenarios doing things you always dreamed of doing, but had not the time to do. If plans are well thought out you look forward to a time of rest where there is no longer a need to meet the hustle and bustle of the world from dawn to dusk. Retirement looks appealing from this vantage point as you move towards incorporating the qualities of the eleventh phase of life.

Age 60 - AP at 11th House Cusp - Relationship Axis

You experience a noticeable decrease in your social circle as fair-weather associates intent on benefiting from your success, begin to take their leave. Only people cultivated through mutual honesty and trust remain loyal. You see past mistakes through a different lens and perhaps you have a few opinions on how to make the world a better place. You may write your memoirs, or take a more active role in groups that work to improve the lives of others. Sadly at this time familiar faces and loved ones often leave your life through death. The loneliness that accompanies these painful events must be braved.

Environment - House 11

Developing an awareness of global concerns is the theme of this house. You identify with the human collective. You engage in activities that support your values and ethics as a member of the fellowship of man. You experience the world beyond your immediate surroundings, dream of a better future and seek to stand out in a crowd. You are aware of global issues and interested in developments that improve the caliber of life on a worldwide scale. You think that the power of one is exponentially magnified when people band together and hope with others of like mind, that governments will work together to achieve world peace. - 11th House Questions: What kind of friend are you? What do you do for others? How can you help to make the world a better place?

I Side - Relationship Axis in Leo

Your congenial approach to life draws people to you and it's relatively easy for you to establish long-lasting friendships with those you share a common interest. You hold your friends and associates in high respect and expect to receive the same in kind. Your loyalty is legendary and you do everything in your power to resolve an issue rather than quit a relationship. Your interests are diverse and you're attracted to groups where you can advance your own prestige and lend your influence to desirable projects. Although you're a born leader you keep your ego out of the picture and put the needs of others before your own, so when the gang is out there shoveling out a load of muck to gain support for a worthy cause you're right there with them.

Planets On The Relationship Axis.

Jupiter in Virgo

You think that helping others and a disciplined approach to life expands your knowledge and makes you more self-aware. Because you're not looking for prestige you believe that personal growth is achieved through ethical conduct and practical accomplishments. You're also highly analytical and think that philosophical systems must serve a useful purpose not just preach utopian ideals. Although you're extremely precise in all you do, preoccupation with a projects minor details can obscure your overview. Doing important things makes you feel good, but indulging yourself causes guilt so you must learn to doing things just because you want to and stop justifying them.

Idealism and self-confidence accompany your optimistic outlook and it's relatively easy for you to form meaningful relationships. Those who seek your friendship come from many different walks of life and are as idealistic and knowledgeable as yourself. You accept people as they are, treat them with respect and expect to be treated with the same deference and acceptance. Because you seek intellectual union on a higher plane you're also attracted to gaining an understanding of philosophical systems and enlightened perceptions. Therefore a sense of belonging and well-being is found in merging energies with a like minded group of people with similar goals.

Pluto in Leo

You belong to a generation attempting to achieve a balance between self-sufficiency and familial duty by redefining the role of an individual to society. Your magnetic politicians wielded dictatorial power and hero-figures played a formative role on a nations psyche. Freedom based on added leisure put the emphasis on self-realization and entertainment became a force that swayed the masses. Your generation was bequeathed the challenge of convincing nations emerging as world powers to commit to treaties to forgo war, however another power struggle affecting the destiny of all humanity began with the intense conflict of World War II. Still, this conflict birthed the United Nations and their dream of one day being a world family living in a peaceful global village.

Your charismatic and personable approach to others attracts people who willing assist you in your quest for personal development. Loyalty to and from a friend is important to you and most likely both friends and associates will play powerful roles in your life. Nevertheless as with all things that are a part of the cosmic process, what ceases to remain common shrivels and dies so friends will come and go as your need for growth changes. The friendships that do stand the test of time will go through numerous deaths and rebirths and you must be to willing flow with the challenges and changes these cycles impart. The journey through the deepest recesses of your psyche will not be easy but the rewards reaped will be more than worth the price of the ticket.

This is a very touchy time. Retirement and the prospect of an unknowable future rapidly approaches and fear may grip you in bouts of panic and depression. You are performing duties as part of the team while at the same time distancing yourself from them. Watching others posture for your soon to be vacant position, or references to age such as sir or madam, can send you into fits of full blown rage. Failure to overcome this state of angst will leave you even more alone if family members and friends are also impacted by your mental stress. Health problems are common here and usually the consequences of a lifetime of physical and mental neglect.

63 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 11th House Low Point.

Retirement looms on the horizon and if you have lived the grand life this continues as long as you have the funds to support it. If not, then a rude awakening will show you out on a high tree limb without a safety net below. You resign yourself to the fact of what is now, a time of readjustment in the expenditure of both physical energy and money. Nevertheless after all adjustments are made if your health is sensibly maintained this is a very enjoyable time of life. It brings fulfillment and enhances the lives of those around you. While you may not be completely content with the state of your affairs you do accept that the work-a-day world can and will go on without you. What is done is done and can't be undone, as you move towards incorporating qualities of the twelfth phase of life.

Age 66 - AP at 12th House Cusp - Existence Axis

Having reached acceptance of your new reality, thoughts may turn to recollections of past events. You wonder how time flew by so quickly. Wasn't it only yesterday that you were a child, longing to possess the rights and privileges of adulthood? You have come to terms with many life situations on this journey and as you look within you can see in retrospect, the places where you may have zigged instead of zagging. Some memories bring back feelings of warmth, while others elicit pain as you try to find meaning and a final resolution to them. You are aware of your own mortality and like others who have left your life, you know you too shall pass beyond the veil in death. Yet you are thankful for the experiences life has given you and able to rejoice in the joys of living them.

Environment - House 12

Embracing a sense of 'love and unity' on a higher spiritual plane is the theme of this house. You incline towards self-sacrifice, spirituality, introspection and artistic expression. By subjugating your inner-self you find the connections to your higher self, identify with existential knowledge and experience bliss. - 12th House Questions: Do you consciously confront your issues? How do you deal with sorrow and suffering?

I Side - Existence Axis in Virgo

Perhaps, when you were young you were led to believe that it was unseemly to judge the worth of something and now you fear possible reprisals should you venture to speak your mind. Still, you're very capable of critical appraisal though this trait may not be outwardly apparent. You act cheerfully unconcerned and present a placid appearance, however you have a burning need to be honest and open with others so below the surface of this mask an incredible amount of personal anxieties freely frolic. No doubt some things in life are much too picky to bother people with and do necessitate silence, but hidden within you lies an ability to hone a skill to near perfection and your sound judgment could help others to effectively execute their plans.

The Twelfth House of your chart is not set into motion through planetary energies. This is an indicator that your attitude towards all things metaphysical expresses largely through the energies contained within the sign on this House Cusp. Occasionally you will find yourself in situations where you must deal with situations in your life that are confusing or even mysterious and while they may prove to be discomfiting these incidents are likely to be few and when they do occur their effects will be temporary. For a deeper understanding of the ways in which you deal with life experiences that are difficult to explain or understand look to the interpretations on Neptune and the aspects it makes to other planets.

68 yrs, 5 mos. - Age Point at - 12th House Balance Point.

Issues resulting from a decline in physical capacity may precipitate a health-crisis. You face the last great life challenge and release all that is superfluous in your character. To avoid conditions such as senility, joy in living and sensible body care are implemented. This necessitates the letting go of anything external that can imprison you in order that a new condition of spirit and a mentally sound, vital attitude can be reborn.

70 yrs, 9 mos. - Age Point at - 12th House Low Point.

Once again energies from the birth ascendant pull you forward, as you reorient to a new manner of living. Your attention is divided between a desire to retreat and savor the yields of life's labor or embrace a new beginning. You feel a sense of contentment and completion now, as you sit in quiet repose observing life around you. Yes you are in the world, but not in quite the same way. Upon reaching the ascendant you understand what it means to be a fully integrated person. Lifelong experiences take on new meaning and at last are fully understood. You have come full circle as you move towards embracing the first house energies once more.

XVI. Chiron - The Rainbow Bridge

In Greek mythology Chiron was a wounded healer- teacher. This asteroid's orbit, between Saturn and Uranus, is severely eccentric, so it occasionally crosses the orbits of both Saturn and Uranus. Chiron bridge's the inner planets of your personal self and the outer planets of your transpersonal being. Its position in your horoscope sheds light on problematic patterns of behaviour that manifest in varying forms throughout your life. By reaching out and sharing insights that you have gained from personal painful life experiences with others, quite possibly you can help them to achieve mastery over their shadow-selves and by so doing also heal yourself.

Chiron in Aquarius

Chiron in the sign of associating indicates a life-path of broad-scale relating. Its placement suggests that your sense of being accepted was in some way undermined. Connecting with others is your spiritual quest. You clearly have a difficult time finding a comfort zone in peer group activates so look to the methods you're currently employing for solutions to this problem. Do you consider the interests of others to be worthy of your time? Do you react to convention just to follow your own path ? You must develop to your fullest potential; the ability to take a diplomatic approach and learn to consider other points of view.

Chiron in 4th house

Your childhood home might be the issue here or perhaps you had some trouble with your parents, but then again so did most of us. This is more like a sense of never feeling at home no matter where you are and a longing for the kind of childhood you wish you had. No doubt your essentials were adequately meet but there may have been so much going on that your parents were unable to pay attention to your emotional needs. As an adult you may fear being alone or be too shy to ask for what you want and choose a mate for all the wrong reasons. Interestingly you're a very good counselor to anyone in need of psychological advice so why not practice what you preach.

Chiron semi-sextile the Sun

It does appear that you feel a lack of pride that stems from a blow to your ego. Although you were found worthy in childhood you unwittingly internalized messages coming from within your environment that went something like this; 'we don't approve of your dramatics or what makes you think you're better than us'. As an adult you want to be applauded for your efforts but if you find it a struggle to assert yourself then silently within, reruns of the mantra - 'I desperately want to be the best I can, but I must not risk it' - are still playing.

Chiron conjunct Venus

It does appear that you have been hurt by someone you loved in the past and now negate genuine unconditional acceptance. In childhood you unwittingly internalized messages coming from within your environment that went something like this; 'my love is like candy, you get it when you're good or you're bad and you must __?__. As an adult you want to be loved and approved of but if you're carrying the feeling you can't measure up then silently within, reruns of the mantra - 'I must be perfect or no one will ever love me' - are still playing.

Chiron quincunx Jupiter

There is or appears to have been some fear of learning and sharing new knowledge. In childhood you were eager to learn but questioning was frowned upon and you unwittingly internalized messages coming from within your environment that went something like this; 'be optimistic but not too optimistic / keep your thoughts to yourself or our truth is the only truth'. As an adult you want to be happy and have a code of ethics you can live by, but if you find it a struggle to believe in anything then silently within, reruns of the mantra - 'I must not question or for every good day there will be a bad one' - are still playing.

Chiron opposite Uranus

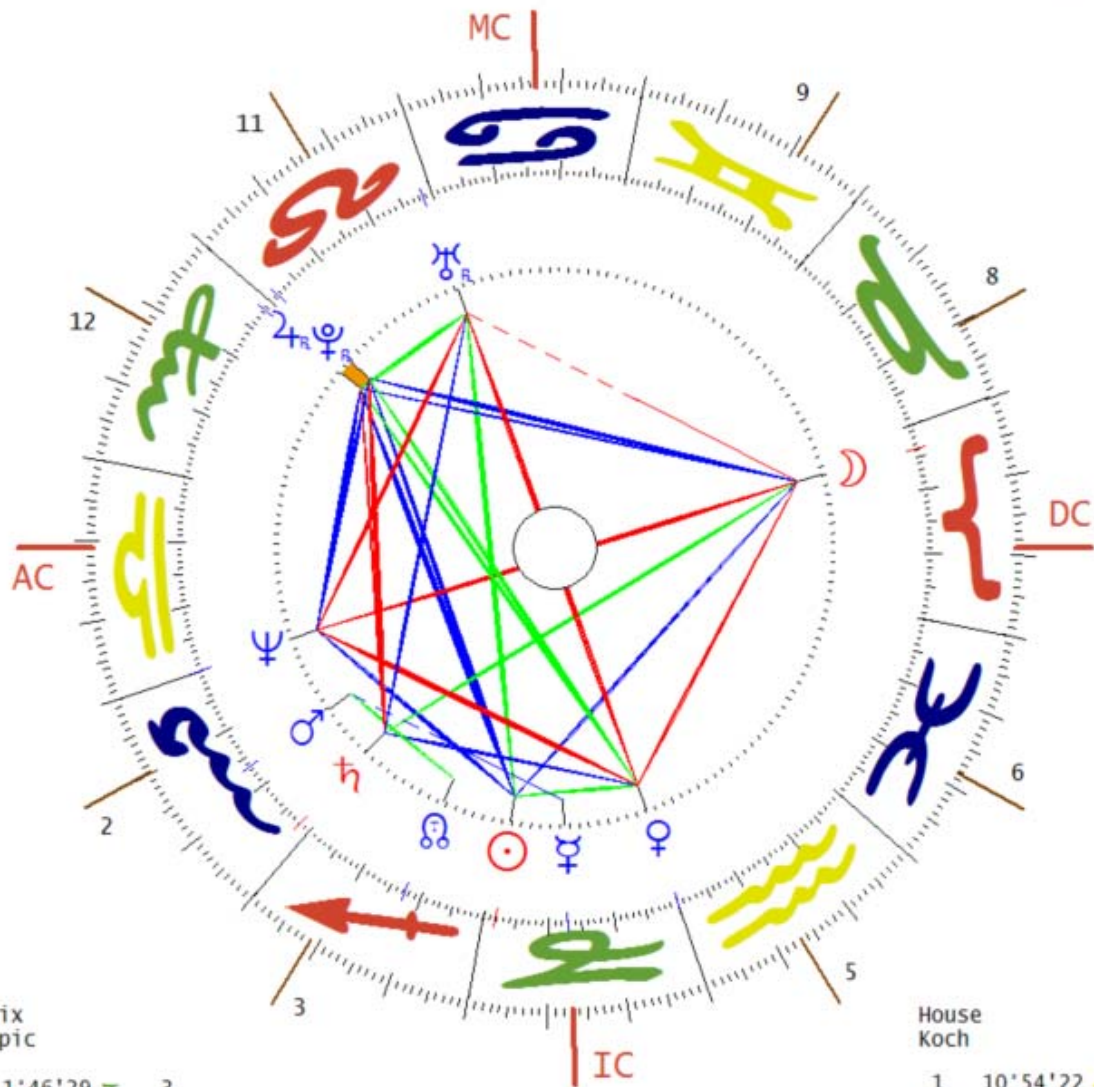

There is or appears to have been some fear of expressing your unique personality. In childhood you asserted yourself, but conformance to given standards was the norm and you unwittingly internalized messages coming from within the environment that went something like this; 'everybody knows that the right way is this way or we'll stop loving you if you do that'. As an adult you want to find a niche and affect change within the social structure, but if you find it a struggle to stand for your own opinions then silently within, reruns of the mantra - 'I must conform to accepted theorems or standing out brings censure' - are still playing.

Age 72 - Continuing Forward - AP at the Ascendant - 1st House Cusp

1st House cusp. A surge of vitality very much like the one that moved you forward into life at birth occurs again as you cross the ascendant and reenter the house of early childhood. Until it is time to pass beyond the veil you will continue through the consecutive houses in an encore fashion. This time around you are mature and can effectively apply the knowledge you have accumulated.
